FORD DECLARES HOOVER IS MAN OF DESTINY

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Sept. 7.—Herbert Hoover is a man of destiny, Henry Ford declared today in an interview advocating the Republican nominee's candidacy.

"Parties may pick the candidates, but destiny picks the Presidents," the automobile manufacturer said.

Declaring the world is entering a new age, "the industrial and more comfortable age," Ford said the country needs a President equipped to handle the problems of the new day.

"The country has become more than a group of governmental of-

PROBE THEFT AND BURNING OF CAR

TIN CITY ROCKET IS AGAIN DELAYED

Will Sees Nothing to Worry About Except Creditors

(Special To The News)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Sept. 7.—Politics are receiving a lot of attention because we have nothing else to interest us.

We don't have to worry about anything. No nation in the history of the world was ever sitting so pretty.

If we want anything, all we have to do is go and buy it on credit.

So that leaves us without any economic problem whatever, except, perhaps, some day to have to pay for them. But we are certainly not thinking about that this early.

Yours for more credit and longer payments,

WILL.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

New Castle is going to vote this fall, don't be mistaken about that. There was the greatest rush to the polling places to be registered last night at many of the precincts that has been seen in many years. Women of New Castle who never voted before are registering to vote this year.

New Castle's fliers who are in New York waiting for a chance to hop off in the race across the continent are having rather a tough break. Weather conditions have held up the departure of the plane for two days now. It is hoped that the start can be made tomorrow.

Pa Newc noted a peach tree in town this morning that was so full of fruit that the branches were tied up to a pole in the center of the tree in such a fashion that it looked like a May Pole about ready for the ceremonies to begin. The peach crop in this area is reported abundant this fall.

Prof. Laverne Irvine, who has been director of the New Castle high school band and orchestra for several years, is leaving today for his new post at West Chester. Students and patrons of the schools alike regret the departure of Mr. Irvine. His record in New Castle was one of unusual success and it is the anticipation of all that it will be eclipsed in his new sphere of activity. New Castle has all kinds of confidence in Mr. Irvine.

Pupils in a number of the schools of the country are attending classes under a handicap this fall. Work of erecting new buildings or making extensions to old structures has not been entirely completed and the pupils are competing with the workmen for attention.

Pa Newc observes that the motorists fail to blow their horns when driving out of the alleys and also that they drive out in a speedy fashion. Pa Newc nearly got hit by one yesterday which slipped silently out of the alley into the street.

Cortelyou Glass dropped into the News office upon his return from the swim. He was looking hale and hearty and no one would ever think that he has been "out," following the long grind in water that was 46 degrees. It would have killed the average person.

Pa Newc was through the Castleton yesterday and saw what a big kitchen and store room is really like. It resembles a department store more than what you would think a hotel would be. Matches, meats, dishes, brushes, mops, groceries, vegetables, and what not. There is everything there.

Emmet Shanley, young gentleman and assistant stewart is leaving The Castleton soon for Cornell where he will take up the study of hotel management. He is a graduate of an Ohio college and will finish at Cornell in another two years. The fascination of hotels is directing many young college men today to that field. It's almost as interesting as newspaper work, observes Pa Newc.

A drizzly rain most all day yesterday failed to keep the people at home. There were as many persons on the sidewalks as on a beautiful day with the sun shining. S'funny.

Contractors are busy finishing up the work of streets in the city that are being paved previous to cold

USE HOSE TOWER ON NEW STATION

Hose tower of the new central fire station on South Jefferson street was placed in use by the department this morning for the first time since the building has been occupied. The hose which represents the surplus hose of the department, was removed from the old central station on East street to its location. The new tower is equipped with the latest type of apparatus to handle the hose.

Hoover Campaign Effort To Centre On Tariff Issue

Republicans Believe Tariff Most Vital Question Of Campaign

CANDIDATE GETS READY FOR DRIVE

Opening Speech To Be Made At Newark On September 17

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Determined to make the tariff a vital issue in the presidential campaign, the Republican national committee today launched a new effort to convince American business that Herbert Hoover stands behind the traditional Republican protective tariff policy.

The purpose of the drive will be to win to Hoover the customary business support in the East that has followed Republican presidential nominees since the beginning of the century. The Republican leaders hoped to stop drift of business men to Governor Alfred E. Smith, which started with the naming of John J. Raskob as his campaign manager. They also plan to eliminate the least suspicion about Hoover's conservatism on the tariff.

Stress Tariff

The Republican national committee, in recent announcements, has stressed the importance of the tariff to American business, labor and industry. Senator Charles Curtis, the Republican vice-presidential nominee, made the tariff his keynote in opening the Maine campaign. Other speakers will be sent into every Atlantic seaboard state to boast of Republican prosperity under the Re-

Y. M. C. A. Board Selects Thomas For Vacant Post

Pitcairn Y Secretary To Head Boy's Work At New Castle Association

COMING THIS MONTH TO ASSUME DUTIES

Succeeds John C. Leonard Who Recently Resigned Place On Staff

Announcement was made this morning by R. L. Meermans, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. that William Thomas, of Tyrone, Pa., who for the past five years has been general secretary of the Pitcairn Y. M. C. A. has been selected to fill the position of boys division secretary left vacant by the resignation of John C. Leonard, who has been in that position for the past two years.

The selection of Mr. Thomas was made on the recommendation given by J. H. Brewer, state secretary of the boys division of the Y. M. C. A., and due to the fact that under the leadership of Thomas, the Pitcairn Y. M. C. A. organization has grown from a very small organization to unlimited heights.

Comes September 13

Thomas, stated Mr. Meermans will come to New Castle and assume his official duties as secretary of the boys division on Sept. 13. He is 26 years of age and for the past 10 years has been both a volunteer and paid Y. M. C. A. leader. For the past five

Start Of Local Plane In Race Again Delayed

Bad Weather Causes Second Postponement Of Start From New York

(EDITOR'S NOTE—The Tin City Rocket, New Castle entry is in Class B.)

(International News Service)

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Sept. 7.—A heavy "pea soup" fog over the Eastern states today forced a postponement of the take-off for class B and class C entries in the trans-continental air derby to Los Angeles.

Even the air mail fliers quit for the day in the territory east of Middletown, Pa., and word came to Roosevelt Field, that the fog was worse than the mist blanket that caused the death of "Merry" Merrill about a week ago.

Flying Dangerous.

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., Sept. 7. — Unfavorable weather conditions in the Allegheny Mountains caused a postponement of the start of class B planes in the national air derby today.

Weather reports from the high ranges between here and McKeesport, Pa., where the flyers are to make the first stop, showed that flying would be dangerous.

Officials of the starting committee received a report from Hadley Field, N. J., the New York air mail terminal, saying that the clouds were so low that flying for any but experienced mail pilots, knowing the route and altitude of the mountains to be crossed, would be extremely hazardous.

Rowland First Off.

Richards Airport, Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 7.—Exactly an hour after the scheduled take off Earl Rowland, Wichita, zoomed away for his home town in his Cessna monoplane at 7 a. m.

The start scheduled for 6 o'clock was delayed by reports of cloudy and stormy weather in the near southwest.

Rowland, leading the Class A planes in the national air derby, was followed one minute later by Robert 'Dake, Pittsburgh, piloting an American Moth.

Weather reports from Wichita, first scheduled stop in today's flight to Fort Worth, Texas, indicated the weather was somewhat clearer.

After Rowland and Dake got away there was some delay as pilot after pilot reported he was not ready to take the air.

At 7:10 S. J. Wittman, Byron, Wis., in a Pheasant took the air, followed at one minute intervals Arthur W. Killips and Ralph Haynes, Lyons, Ills., in a Waco plane and John E. Carberry, Toronto, Canada, in a Dehavilland Moth, followed at intervals by the other planes.

Councilmen Will Be Lunch Guests

Proposed City Improvements To Be Discussed At Gathering Tuesday

Next Tuesday directors of the chamber of commerce and city officials will lunch and discuss proposed city improvements, it developed during council meeting at city hall today.

James W. Cole, commissioner, chamber of commerce, advised the mayor and his colleagues that the chamber of commerce is interested in civic development and invited the solons to luncheon.

The chamber of commerce, the commissioner stated in his communication is not only interested in civic development but also the proposed bond issue and the sewerage question.

Council accepted the invitation.

Mayor W. H. Gillespie Coming From Pittston

New Castle And Pittston Mayors Have Identical Names—To Meet Here At Convention Next Week.

Mayor Gillespie meet Mayor Gillespie!

Such will be the meeting of Mayor William H. Gillespie, mayor of the city of New Castle with Mayor William H. Gillespie, mayor of the city of Pittston which is in the eastern part of the state near Wilkes-Barre.

This morning at The Castleton, the letter from Mayor William H. Gillespie, the one from Pittston, came asking that a room be reserved for him while he is in the city next week visiting Mayor William H. Gillespie, the one of New Castle.

Mayor Gillespie of Pittston will be the guest of Mayor Gillespie of New Castle at the convention of the mayors of third class cities which will take place here September 18, 19 and 20.

It is the only such coincidence of mayors names in the state that has been heard of.

BIG INCREASE IN SCHOOL ENROLLMENT THIS FALL

From the enrollment on the first day of school here, there seems no doubt that the total enrollment of the New Castle public schools will exceed 11,000 this year. Figures in the office of Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent, show 10,573 already enrolled and the first month of school usually adds 500 or more.

The George Washington junior high school shows an increase of 127 over the enrollment of North street junior high school last year. The present North street building, which replaces the Martin Gantz school, shows an increase of 55 over the enrollment of Martin Gantz last year.

Croton reports an enrollment of 73 in grade 1-B, the first grade, and this may necessitate a new teacher for this school. The trade school shows an enrollment of 160. Lincoln-Garfield school is the largest elementary school in the city, showing 1036 enrolled there.

The senior high school shows an increase of 65 over the first day of last year. Kindergarten schools have been opened in the Thaddeus Stevens and West Side schools.

Registration Here Is Heavy

BIG RUSH OCCURS THURSDAY NIGHT

Pouring into the registration booths in the last two hours, New Castle voters threw off what appeared to be the usual first day lethargy on Thursday and estimates of the first day total would seem to indicate a record registration here.

In many of the second ward precincts long lines of voters could be seen late Thursday evening and if the interest continues in the next two registration days there seems to be no question that previous figures will be surpassed.

Totals to Run High.

So heavy was the last minute registration in the second ward that the totals may run high enough to handicap the election boards in the general election on November 6. With a national, state and local ticket to be elected and 14 amendments to the state constitution to be voted upon there is a grave possibility that the voters will have difficulty in getting in.

Basing the estimate upon previous registrations, some of the second ward precincts will poll 1000 votes, far too many for one precinct to handle within the time limits of the day.

AUTOMOBILE IS REPORTED STOLEN

Frank Growden, 701 West Washington street, reported to the police today that his Studebaker roadster, Pennsylvania license B29-605, 1923 model, had been stolen during the night from the driveway of his residence. In the car was also a Remington rifle, a hunting coat and cap.

LOCAL BOY REPORTED MISSING FROM HOME

J. C. King, aged 15, 409 Eighth St., according to the report made to the police today, is missing from his home and the police are asked to assist in locating him. He is described as being five feet ten inches in height and wearing a gray hat, blue trousers and green raincoat when he left home.

Ruth Elder Says Husband Tried To Stop Her Flight

Girl Aviatrix Asserts That Lyle Womack Threatened Her With Death In Hotel

Faced Death In Ocean And Also At Hands Of Enraged Husband Ruth Reveals

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 7.—When Ruth Elder began her airplane flight to Europe—one that ended in mid-ocean—a double spectre of death was hovering her, she declared here today.

One, obviously enough, was death at sea, in the event of a disastrous crash; the other, she asserted, was at the hands of her husband, Lyle Womack, who threatened to kill her if she did not agree to give up the flight.

This startling assertion was made by the famous aviatrix as the aftermath of reported divorce proceedings instituted by Womack, now at Balboa Canal Zone.

Threatened To Kill.

Her husband, she said, threatened her life in New York.

"George Haldeman and two others interested in the flight were discussing plans in my suite on this night," she asserted. "Suddenly Lyle stalked

Garage Man Is Found Murdered In Nanticoke, Pa.

Man With Bullet Wound In Right Temple Found Dead In Garage Office

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Sept. 7.—With a bullet wound in the right temple, the body of Charles Engler, 36, of Wapwallopen was found in his office in the Wesley Auto Company in the central section of Nanticoke today. Police reported the man had been slain.

The discovery was made by Joseph Kravitz, a parcel post carrier, who went to the garage to get his machine this morning. He saw Engler's body in a pool of blood in the office nearby.

The window leading from the office was open, although nothing was disturbed, indicating no robbery. A check-up was made to see if thieves were active, but so far as county detectives could reveal there was no evidence. No gun, according to the best information available, was found nor were any shots heard in the neighborhood.

The shooting, it was believed, occurred shortly after midnight. Engler was reported to be a man of regular habits. He was married two years ago and is the father of two children. He was known as the night man at the garage.

Car Is Stolen; Then Set Afire After Stripping

Police Investigate Unusual Crime In Seventh Ward District Last Night

CAR IS BURNED NEAR THEFT SCENE

Loss To Owner Is About $1,000—Firemen Called To Check Blaze

Police and fire officials are making a thorough investigation of the theft of the car of Mrs. Effie Nail, 311 Rigby street from the vicinity of the Shenago Tin plant last night and its subsequent destruction by fire in the old stone quarry just off North Cedar street and near the plant of the New Castle Box company, after the car had been stripped of most everything of value.

The fire loss sustained in the destruction of the car a Chrysler coach bearing Pennsylvania license C 7-126 is estimated by the fire department officials as being $1,000.

Call Firemen.

The fire was discovered about 9:05 p. m. Thursday night and an alarm from box 74 called the Seventh ward department to the scene. The car had been driven up the road into the old stone quarry before being set on fire in some unknown manner.

Officer John Moore reported the burning of the car shortly after its discovery. A little later the police department received a call from the watchman at the No. 1 gate at the Shenango Tin Plant to the effect that a car had been stolen from that plant betwen dark and midnight.

On investigation it was found to be the same car that had been destroyed by fire. It is the property of Mrs. Effie Nail, 311 Rigby street and was driven to the plant by her husband William Nail who was working last night. It was found that the car

Four Hundred Delegates Will Be City's Guests

Coming Here To Attend F. P. A. State Convention On September 10-12

FIRST SESSION TUESDAY MORNING

Monday Given Over To Committee Meetings And Registration

Fully 400 delegates from all parts of Pennsylvania will be in attendance at the 15th annual session of the Fraternal Patriotic Americans of the state of Pennsylvania, which will meet in this city September 10-12 inclusive, with headquarters in The Castleton.

The delegates and their wives will begin to arrive here on next Sunday morning.

Monday, the opening day of the state meeting, will be devoted entirely to the registering of delegates and the holding of committee meetings.

State Council Session.

The state council of the order will convene in the Odd Fellows hall on North Mill street at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. The opening exercises will be open to all delegates, their wives and friends, as well as the membership of the local council. This session will be in the nature of a welcome to the city by local authorities and also a memorial service for former members of the order.

Program as arranged for this session is as follows:

America, by the entire assemblage; invocation, Rev. F. E. Stough, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church; address of welcome on behalf of New Castle council No. 180 by Harry Connor, past councilor and state representative; address, greetings of the city of New Castle by the Hon. W. H. Gillespie, the mayor; response to address of welcome, A. H. Mercer, member of Standard council No. 62, Pittsburgh; Star Spangled Banner, by the assemblage.

Following this there will be held a special memorial service in commemoration of Edwin S. Deemer, who for

MILLER'S PLANE FORCED OUT OF AERIAL RACE

(International News Service)

RICHARDS AIRFIELD, Kansas City., Sept. 7.—Leslie C. Miller, of Los Angeles, was put out of the air derby, temporarily at least, when it was discovered today the oil line pipe of his Lincoln-Page engine had been cut.

Miller is at loss to account for the act. He and his mechanics worked on the motor far into the night. Aviation experts declared there was no doubt the pipe, of soft copper, had been cut as the ends of the break were pinched together as though severed with a pair of pliers.

This is the plane that made a forced landing at Chewton, Lawrence County, on the first day of the race.

New Court House And New Jail Are Needed Grand Jury Believes

Also Recommend Widening Of Court Street For Better Parking Facilities

New Bridge Is Recommended Across The Mahoning River Near Willow Grove

Both a new court house and a new county jail were recommended in presentments made by the grand jury to court today. For many years past grand juries have been recommending a new court house, but the present jury went a step further and asked that a new jail be built. It was claimed that the court house rooms are all in a crowded condition and that the county jail is short on toilet facilities.

The jury also found that there is a lack of parking facilities in the neighborhood of the court house. It was recommended that Court street be widened. At present parking is only allowed on one side of the street in the vicinity of the court house on account of the street being so narrow. The grand jury believes that if the street were widened parking could be done on both sides and the facilities would be doubled. Owing to the court house hill being quite steep it is seldom that any parking is done on it. This congests the parking at the top of the hill. During court sessions parking is generally extended around on Milton street but it is also narrow and only suitable for parking on one side of the street.

Recommends New Bridge.

The jury also recommended that a new bridge be erected across the Mahoning river at Willow Grove. The

Governor Smith To Campaign West At Early Stages

Will Devote Latter Part Of His Campaign To Eastern States

NOT LIKELY TO GO TO CALIFORNIA

Open Air Speaking From Trains Does Not Appeal To Governor Smith

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 7.—Governor Al Smith's decision to open his campaign with a speech in Omaha on September 18, and to follow it up with a two week's intensive tour of the region west of the Mississippi river is the result of several weeks careful political study on the part of the Democratic "best minds" that are directing his candidacy.

West of the Mississippi Republican leaders have asserted that Governor Smith will not carry a single state. The decision to have the governor fire his opening gun in Omaha, the veritable heart of the grain belt and to follow it up with speeches at Oklahoma City and Denver and three or four other places yet to be selected, represents the Democratic challenge of this Republican claim.

Not Going To Coast.

Although no final decision has yet been made as to whether the governor's trip will be extended to the Pacific coast, the belief prevails here that California will not see the Democratic candidate, at least on this trip. Gov. Smith's heart is set upon returning from the west by Sunday, September 30, and opening the Democratic state convention at Rochester on October 1.

Instead of going to the coast, it is probable that Gov. Smith will elect to strike northward from Denver, touching Montana, Minnesota, possibly Wisconsin, and perhaps dipping down to St. Louis or Kansas City. Some of his advisers, however, believe it would be better strategy for him

It's a game that's exciting, a game for real sport, that sends shivers all over your spine, and I'm waiting to see them line up on the field, the weather is sixty-nine.

Question Of Pier For North Street Has Been Raised

Decision Will Likely Be Given By Waterways Commission September 29

Following the approval of the grand jury recommendation for the North street bridge, the next move by the county commissioners, will be to advertise for bids. How soon this can be done has not yet been determined. Before the bridge can be built it must have the approval of the Waterways Commission. This commission does not meet until September 29.

The matter has already been taken up with the commission but a question was raised as to whether or not a pier was to be built in the center of the Neshannock. If no pier is allowed the commissioners would have to build a high iron bridge, like the South Mill street bridge. If a pier is allowed a low bridge, like the Washington street bridge could be built.

According to the commissioners the stream is wider at North street than it is at Washington street, where there is a pier, and they believe that a pier will be allowed at the North street bridge. It may be that the commissioners will advertise for bids before the meeting of the Waterways Commission, and hold them pending the decision of the commission. If this is done considerable time can be gained.

publican tariff rule and to warn against the danger of economic depression if the Democrats win in the November election and initiate tariff reforms.

For the first time too, the tariff will be praised in the midwest as a farm relief measure. The farmers will be told, as they were in Iowa during Hoover's visit to his home state last month, that the tariff can go far toward solving their problems.

Not Chinese Wall

The 1928 Republican textbook, to be widely circulated, declares: "No one policy has contributed so much to America's continued supremacy in the world of trade as the protective tariff." It adds that the tariff is not a "Chinese Wall," as imports have increased 63 per cent since the present law was enacted.

Then the book includes a Hoover tariff pronouncement, made in October, 1926:

"I well recollect that at the time the tariff law was passed," the book quotes Hoover as saying, "it was predicted it would destroy our foreign trade, yet under it our foreign commerce—both imports and exports—have steadily increased until they have both reached the highest volume in all the peacetime history of our county.—

Other announcements will follow from time to time to demonstrate that the Republican nominee, although holding high office under Democratic administration, was and is a firm believer in the Republican protective policy.

Hoover spent today, as usual, in his campaign office. He devoted several hours to work on his labor speech, to be delivered September 17, in Newark, N. J., he had a long list of Republican callers.

FORD DECLARES HOOVER IS MAN OF DESTINY

fices," Ford said. "It is a great and growing social and productive power and it needs a man who knows how to make the material world serve the social world. It is not enough for him to desire this, but to know how to go about it. Hoover knows."

Ford praised Hoover's stand on prohibition, calling his attitude "absolutely right."

"Prohibition is here to stay, no matter who is elected President," he declared.

"People do not consider prohibition the issue in this campaign—they settled that issue long ago—what they are thinking about is a President best fitted to deal with the problems that will confront the chief executive in this new age—what I call the industrial and more comfortable age."

Pictures Hoover Adviser

Ford pictured Hoover as an adviser and referee for the cross sections of modern life, the financiers, the builders, the workers, the producers and the consumers.

"Herbert Hoover has been heading toward the Presidency for a good many years—but he didn't know it," Ford said. "Parties may pick the candidates, but destiny picks the Presidents.

"To fulfill his part in the national plan a man has to begin preparing far back. Hoover began 35 years ago when he became an engineer. The country has become more than a group of governmental offices. It is a great and growing social and productive power, and it needs a man who knows how to make the material world serve the social world. It is not enough for him to desire this, but to know how to go about it. He knows what people mean when they talk about these things.

"What would you think of a business leader who should say that his great mission was to reorganize the offices of his concern? The main consideration is always increase and betterment of the productive energy and methods. Well, it is just the same when politicians stress organization of government offices. The real business of the country is not at Washington—but everywhere, in every town and hamlet, in every family in the land. Hoover understands that.

Liked by Business

"Business men are for him, on this understanding. They feel that he sees business as part of the service of life—not as a separate interest feeding upon life. You cannot grant anything like 'special privilege' to business. Business is based on the general privilege of everybody to work and prosper.

"Hoover is engineer enough to know that nobody ever gains anything from 'special privilege'. Under the American system we believe in the circulation of prosperity. It has got to circulate to exist at all. Broad-minded business men know this. That is why they are forgetting parties and supporting Hoover.

Stand Is Correct

"His stand on prohibition is absolutely right. He believes in it. He says that it is one factor in American prosperity. Certainly it is an indispensable factor in our industrial efficiency. The non-drinking nations are going to lead. Over in Europe the restrictions on liquor are becoming tighter and tighter, even in England. The country knows it is on the right track in this matter and will permit no one to change it. Mr. Hoover's straightforward statement satisfies me that the fooling about prohibition is about done.

"No matter who is elected President, prohibition will stay. The people know that it is here to stay and all this talk about a change and the return of beer or liquor will soon cease. Already such talk is subsiding; soon it will be gone. People do not consider prohibition the issue of this campaign—they settled that long ago—what they are thinking about is a President best fitted to deal with the problems that will confront the chief executive in this new age. We are in a new age—some call it the industrial, but I call it the industrial and more comfortable age. The resources of the country have only been scratched; they must be developed and Herbert Hoover is the man to lead the way.

Hopes Hoover Wins

"He is fitted by temperament, by training and by destiny to serve as President, to act as a referee and adviser for the financier and the builder, the builder and the worker, the producer and the consumer.

"The election of Hoover would start the accomplishments for which President Coolidge has cleared the way by getting rid of the debris of a passing era. I am interested in the election of Hoover, because I am interested in the welfare of the people. Hoover's election would mean continued prosperity and the development of the material for added prosperity. The President's job has become that of a social engineer. Hoover fills the role."

47 years served as state council secretary to the order, and Charles L Cadwallader, who for 35 years served as secretary to the Funeral Benefit association, a reimbursing society connected with the order.

Memorial Program.

The program arranged for this service follows:

Invocation, Rev. F. E. Stough; hymn, Lead Knidly Light, by the audience; brief eulogy of Edwin S Deemer by Past State Councilor Harry G. T. Miller of Allentown; hymn "Abide With Me", by the audience; brief eulogy of the life of Charles L Cadwallader by Francis Airey, past councilor and state representative of Philadelphia; hymn, Nearer My God To Thee, by the audience; benediction, Rev. F. E. Stough.

After the memorial service the convention will convene in executive session to pass upon the reports and give consideration to the recommendation of the officers of the past year. There will also be elected at this session a state vice councilor for the western district of Pennsylvania and state council treasurer. A number of amendments to the laws of the order will also be considered at this time.

Banquet Event.

The banquet for the officers, delegates and members will be given on Tuesday evening, September 11, at 6:30 o'clock in the dining room of the First Christian church, with Wesley Davy, one of the most prominent and active of the local members serving as toastmaster. Mr. Davy has a reputation as an after dinner speaker and master of ceremonies and is expected to surpass himself on this occasion.

Speakers of this event will be the Hon. James A. Chambers, judge of the courts of Lawrence county, and A. M. DeHaven, member of the Philadelphia bar and attorney for the state council.

Following the banquet, the convention will reconvene in the Odd Fellows hall, where a meeting open to delegates, their wives and friends will be held. The objects and principles of the order will be discussed at this time by various state officials and others who are expected to be in attendance.

Present officers of the state council are as follows: Charles F. Bauman, state councilor, of Philadelphia, who will preside at the convention, assisted by State Vice-Councilor Albert C. Miller of Allentown. Other state officers are John Heizenroeder, junior past state councilor of Pittsburgh, who retired from the executive board at the close of this session; L. H. Crick of Pittsburgh, state council treasurer; C. W. Brinser, Philadelphia, state council secretary.

Preparations have been made for the entertainment of the visitors in an elaborate manner, making it one of the finest of such events yet held here.

years he has made boys Y. M. C. A. work his profession.

Following Mr. Thomas' graduation from the Tyrone high school where he was prominent in musical and foot ball activities, he entered the Chicago Y. M. C. A. college at Chicago, Ill. The course which he entered took five years to complete. Since graduation from this school he has been at the Pitcairn Y. M. C. A.

During his college career, he was also a football player, volley ball player, swimmer and orchestra member. He also did social service work in the slums of Chicago. Mr. Brewer recommended Thomas on the strength of his club work, stated Mr. Meermans. Mr. Brewer wrote that he had organized the best Christian citizenship clubs which are known as the Friendly Indian and Pioneer organizations in the state.

His experience in boys work in the Y. M. C. A. organization has been stellar. He has been at the Penn State boys camp for three years and has had constant experience with every kind of boys camps in different parts of the state.

His work especially at the Pitcairn Y. M. C. A. has been of a very meritable nature. He has organized many clubs and made it one of the finest of the smaller Y. M. organizations in the state.

His career has shown him to be a versatile athlete as well as a musician of note. The local Y. M. C. A. states Mr. Meermans, is pleased with their selection.

Deaths Of The Day

Mrs. Angeline Rinehuls.

Word has been received in this city of the death of Mrs. Angeline Rinehuls, formerly of this city, which occurred Thursday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Nale in Brockway, Pa., after an illness of several days.

Mrs. Rinehuls was born near Brockway November 4, 1857, and had spent much of her life in that vicinity. For the past five years she had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. William Back of 41 South Beaver street, and during that time had made many friends in this city.

The following children survive: Mrs. Mildred Back of this city, Mrs. Linnie Nale, Mrs. Ida Bower and Emery Rinehuls of Brockway, Mrs. Lulu Smith of Chickasaw, Pa., Arthur of Buffalo, N. Y., and Edgar of Toledo.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday, September 8, at Brockway.

Mrs. Hutchison Buried.

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Eliza Caroline Hutchison took place from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Minnie Kegarise, 516 Winter avenue, Thursday afternoon at 2:30.

The services were in charge of Rev. Baer of Alvina, Pa., assisted by Rev. Rich of the New Wilmington M. E. church. The scripture was read by Rev Shoots of England.

The pallbearers were Ralph Kegarise, Walter Hutchison, Thomas Hutchison, Theodore Hutchison, Harold Hutchison and Carl Reed.

Interment was made in Kings Chapel cemetery.

Marie Temperato

Marie Temperato, aged two years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Temperato, died at the family home, rear 807 Moravia street, Thursday evening after an illness of whooping cough, which developed into pneumonia.

Her death is particularly sad, as another child of the family died about 10 days ago. Besides her parents she leaves two brothers, Carl and Joseph, and a sister, Julia.

Funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 9:30 from the home. Interment in St. Vitus cemetery.

Mrs. Agnes R. Whitty

Relatives have received word in this city of the death of Mrs. Agnes Reiber Whitty, wife of R. J. Whitty, which occurred at her home Thursday at Maywood, Ill.

Besides her husband she leaves one son, Franklin, of Maywood; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Reiber, of Paw Paw, Mich., and two brothers, Albert Reiber of Michigan and Dr. Frank J. Reiber of Maywood.

Mrs. Whitty has a number of relatives in this city. She lived here when quite young.

To Visit West Early.

One thing the governor is determined upon and that is to make his play for the west early in the campaign, reserving the closing weeks for the greater electoral prizes of the east. It would be mathematically possible, of course, for Gov. Smith to win in November without any of the states west of the Mississippi. But the states of the east are vital to his cause.

The triangular trip involving Omaha, Oklahoma City and Denver will carry the governor also through Iowa and Kansas. Although there are no speeches scheduled for these states, it is more or less certain that there will be some speaking as his train traverses these states. Gov. Smith has frequently asserted that he will do no open air speaking, no "rear platform stuff," but history has yet to record a candidate who could leave crowds standing at stations while his special train zipped through at forty miles an hour.

From now until the date of his departure, Gov. Smith plans to work intensively on state business and in preparing for his forthcoming departure. Not many political visitors are expected in Albany. One of his few callers yesterday was Henry Morgenthau, former ambassador to Turkey, who discussed foreign relations with him.

present bridge was built before the days of heavy automobile traffic. It is of light construction and so narrow that two autos can barely pass on it. The approach at the western end is also bad being on a sharp curve. Several accidents have occured at this point.

In connection with bridges it was recommended that the county engineer and county commissioners make regular inspections of all of the bridges every year in order to see that they are safe for the heavy traffic now on the highways.

It was also recommended that the county build a suitable home for under-priviledged children and that a night watchman be provided for the sheriff.

had evidently been stripped of everything of value before being burned. Officers Lockard and Criswell investigated as did Detective Logan and Officer Lynch today and the police authorities are of the opinion that there was a second car in which stuff taken from the machine was hauled away.

This morning P. J. Dickson of the Seventh ward advised the police that he had the tires of the machine which he had taken off to prevent their theft.

It was also learned by the police authorities that Fry brothers of the Seventh ward had taken about four gallons of gasoline from the tank of the machine the gasoline not igniting in the fire that destroyed the car. They are being held for further investigation. They admit taking the gasoline police say.

RUTH ELDER SAYS HUSBAND TRIED TO STOP HER FLIGHT

into the room and asked to talk with me privately. We went into another apartment.

"He began to abuse me. He was making so much noise that I went toward the door to close the transom. He thought I was going. He threw me on the bed and placed his hand on my throat. He said: 'I'll kill you and kill Haldeman and I'll kill those others up there if you won't agree to give up the flight'."

Miss Elder said she finally managed to get to the telephone and call Haldeman. They came to the apartment and finally quieted her husband, she asserted.

Blames Husband.

Miss Elder said that her husband was more agreeable that she make the flight, at first.

"But," she continued, "after he received an anonymous letter, which threatened him with beatings if he allowed me to go, his whole attitude changed."

Miss Elder also placed the blame for the failure of the flight on her husband.

"During three days of perfect flying weather just prior to our take-off," she asserted, "he was haunting me with his threats. We tried to take off without his knowing about it, but he would always pop up at the wrong time. That is why we made so many false starts. If we had been able to get away during those three days I know we would have landed in France."

Miss Elder said she had not made any definite plans but asserted she felt at this time she would not contest her husband's suit.

Refused Kiss.

BALBOA, Panama Canal Zone, Sept. 7.—The refusal of his wife to kiss him after a long separation is part of the allegation of cruelty in the divorce papers filed in the canal zone district court by Lyle Womack, husband of Ruth Elder, trans-Atlantic flyer and film actress.

Womack, who is driving a truck for the Canal Zone government, said it saddened him to bring the action, but that there was nothing else left for him to do.

He declared that he attempted to bring about a friendly reconciliation, but failed. When Miss Elder returned to New York after her attempted flight to Europe and was being feted and pictured as a beautiful heroine of the skies, Womack went to New York to welcome her.

He said he attempted to embrace and kiss his wife when they met but that she put him off saying:

"Don't be a fool."

It is understood that Miss Elder will make no defense. In the Canal Zone courts a divorce is not effective until six months after the decree has been granted. As there are few divorce actions upon the calendar the Womack-Elder action probably will be heard soon.

WORLD INTERRELATIONSHIP

THE question uppermost in many minds is how President Coolidge is taking the background position to which he was relegated by the presidential nominations. Since the conventions Coolidge news has become increasingly hard to find on the front page, although up to the very hour of Hoover's nomination no name was oftener mentioned than that of the man who could have had Hoover's chance for the asking.

From outward appearances the president is taking his new position gracefully. He even seems to enjoy it immensely. This bears out the popular theory that he is tired of his job and that this alone inspired his famous words of a year ago. For him the days until inauguration day seem to lag.

But the occupant of the summer white house returned to the limelight momentarily the other day by delivering an address that newspaper editors considered of more public interest than the bulletins of campaign managers for that day.

In that address, before the Wisconsin American Legion, Mr. Coolidge revealed himself as no isolationist. The world read with interest these words:

"The World war, stupendous catastrophe though it was, wrought one great good. It gave us an opportunity to know the world and afforded us a place in the world we did not have before. It revealed to us to a large extent both our powers and our responsibilities. It demonstrated so clearly the interdependence of all people that we are not likely to hear again in responsible quarters that what other nations do is no concern to ours."

There could be no better evidence of this appreciation of "our powers and our responsibilities" than that greatest of diplomatic triumphs, the Kellogg treaty.

HOOVER MEANS GOOD TIMES

FOR the American business man, tradesman and workman the candidacy of Herbert Hoover for president offers the best insurance policy for the continuance of good times the Republican or any party could give to the people of the United States.

As secretary of commerce for the past seven years, Hoover has stood steadfast at the right hand of President Coolidge in piloting American business to safe harbors of progress and prosperity. Like Coolidge, he has been an apostle of the Republican protective tariff in its manifold workings to increase and multiply American business, fatten pay envelopes and raise higher and better the American standard of good living and the welfare of the people.

Hoover in the department of commerce has been the very monitor of good times. So far as any department or branch of the national government could go in helpful constructive assistance Hoover has gone. Free of political quarrels and motives, safe and sound, with a heart and brain intent on the quickening of government service to the service of the people, Hoover has moved, in calm and in storm, serenely along promoting good business and good times.

The great genius and untiring industry of Hoover have stimulated and helped thousands of enterprises. A national canvass would be necessary to show fully the breadth and depth of Hoover's good work, for no pent-up Washington office has confined his talents. His beneficent genius has sped into every community and state in the union and sent the flag of American commerce into new ports in strange seas.

Hoover has discovered and made useful new methods and new markets for American production. He has been the supplement and reinforcement of the protective tariff. In helping business to help itself he has been a mighty adjunct in the good works of the Coolidge administration. Not by voice alone but by example, not a mere preacher but a doer, he has shown the American manufacturer and the trader the road to business expansion and success that carries on into happy homes and contented lives.

THE COAST GUARD

WITH most people the name Coast Guard is today synonymous with rum chasers. Perhaps it is because this newest job of the guard monopolizes the publicity that the public has forgotten the purposes for which it was organized.

It may be worth while, for the sake of the Coast Guard, to point out that last year this arm of the federal service rescued more persons from drowning than it gathered in as liquor smugglers. Rendering assistance to vessels in distress and saving life and property are the primary duties of the Coast Guardsmen. Protection of the customs revenue, which means war on all kinds of smuggling, whether it be whisky or Chinese, comes much farther down in their list of functions.

Destruction of derelicts, wrecks and icebergs as dangers to navigation is worth the whole cost of the service to the taxpayers. Since the Coast Guard ice patrol was started in the North Atlantic, not one serious accident from floating ice has occurred in that region. The American service ships patrol the steamship lanes in the vicinity of the Grand Banks and send wireless warnings of all bergs in sight, giving the location.

It is a man-sized job for a Coast Guardsman to perform his regular duties that are all in a day's work. The chasing of rum runners is only incidental and by no means the most dangerous part of the job.

The taxidermist must learn to skin dumb animals, but the ability to sell oil stock seems to be a gift.

Little betting on this election. Even Wall Street, having made a few small bets at 3½ to 1, is now betting brown derby hats. No matter who wins, at least 100 brokers will have new brown derbies in November.

Herbert Hoover will speak in Southern territory, usually solidly Democratic. Gov. Smith will speak in the farming West, where Republican officials are produced.

Senator Capper, of Kansas, who ought to know about farmers, says: "The West is solid for Hoover, not a state beyond the Mississippi for Smith, except possibly Wisconsin, which is doubtful."

Raskob claims more states for Gov. Smith—Indiana, Illinois and Ohio—giving the governor the biggest electoral vote any Democrat ever had.

Mr. Raskob criticizes views of his former associate, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors, and says, without referring to Mr. Sloan, that great industrialists like prohibition because it keeps their men from getting whisky, but wouldn't like it if it kept them from getting champagne.

A bad day Wednesday for Ursus Horribilis, the Wall Street Bear that walks like a man but doesn't know enough to stop selling United States values short.

What happened to him was sad and mournful.

Four million shares were sold in spite of 7½ per cent "call money," and the Federal Reserve's continued encouragement of usury usurers.

"Let them hear that have ears." DON'T SELL THIS COUNTRY SHORT.

Corriere di Napoli, Dante's grave in Ravenna, has been opened, his ashes stolen.

That won't hurt Dante, or help the thief.

That thief must be a strange creature, for he could only say to himself, "Those are the ashes of Dante," telling no one.

It is man's work that counts, not his ashes.

When kings came back after the French Revolution, they scattered Voltaire's ashes to the four winds. And they picked the right man, for it was he that put an end to French kings.

They are gone. He remains. They never succeeded in scattering him while he lived. He worried them.

Three thousand scientists, meeting in Glasgow, will discuss many things, from the speed of the electron traveling around the nucleus, inside the atom, to the origin of life and the meaning of death.

Men measure the distance of another universe, separated from us by 1,000,000 light years, and can tell you how many trillion times EACH second the electron makes a revolution in its tiny solar system.

But they know as little about life and death as they did when it was written, "The Heavens declare the glory of God, and the firmament showeth His handiwork."

Twenty-six women scientists will talk to the greatest scientists of the world, a good sign.

The British association has acquired for a permanent memorial Down House, in Kent, where Darwin wrote his "Origin of Species." That would please Darwin, much interested in that house. His real monument is "The Origin of Species."

Gene Tunney, champion heavyweight, having visited the Louvre, says he got "the thrill of a life-time." Many Americans, dutifully wandering from the Venus of Milo in her fine big room to the Winged Victory and on to Ruben's rows of fat ladies on the floor above could not say as much.

It probably interested Tunney, who knows almost everything, to reflect that the stone palace containing the French are treasures is called "The Louvre," because it was once the King's "louvrier," a small lodge in a forest where he hunted wolves, crossing the Seine from his palace on the little island to what is now the real Paris.

Earl Rowland, of Wichita, Kan., in his 100-horsepower Cessna monoplane, led 37 transcontenental racers, when he landed at Columbus, O., Wednesday.

This useful flight, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, with overnight stops, will, some day, seem as amusing as early railroad time tables that read, "Trains will start, weather permitting."

The Rev. Dr. Straton, cheered by 3,000 persons in Atlanta, denounced Tammany Hall, declaring that "twice within a week attempts had been made to burn his home; once his wife ill in bed and his sleeping children narrowly escaped death."

Dr. Straton should tell that to the New York police and district attorney with proof. Thus far, arson has been listed among Tammany Hall's weapons.

Robert La Folette, carried to some extent by his father's name, as the younger Cromwell was carried by the great name before him, sweeps Wisconsin's Republican primaries 2 to 1.

Besides his father's name and record, he has his own sincerity and will return to the senate, and be useful there, if only as a "gadfly."

Tennis Ruling Against Tilden Stirs Row On Amateur Problem

Many Observers Think Incident Illustrates Inconsistencies of Official Attitude Toward Question Of What Is Professionalism

Through its ruling that William T. Tilden should be barred from amateur events because he wrote articles for publication about matches in which he participated, the United States Lawn Tennis Association has aroused further a rather general feeling that all is not right with the prevailing methods of drawing the line between the amateur and the professional in sports. "Big Bill's" offense was committed in England this summer during matches which preceded the great French tournament. An announcement that he could not appear with the American team in France brought about a near-diplomatic incident. Then he was permitted to play and the association dealth with his case later.

In defense of the tennis authorities, the NEW YORK SUN believes it "is difficult to see how the executive committee could do otherwise than discipline Tilden. *The player-writer rule," continues that paper, "may be absurd, but it is a statute of amateur tennis to which Tilden gave assent in his participation in the task of framing it; doubtless he could not refuse his assent if he wished to play amateur tennis. Tilden has the sympathy of many who reflect upon the profits made out of amateur competition by tennis clubs. Some of these have gone rather largely into the amusement business, building large stadiums and expensive plants out of the profits."

The CHARLOTTE NEWS also suggests that Tilden, "emerging again as the storm center of amateur tennis, is not gaining the sympathy that formerly has gone-out to him in his squabbles with the Lawn Tennis Association. *He was one of those who helped to draft the present player-writer rule. At that time he pledged himself to abide by its letter and spirit. That he did not do so in England is admitted by his friends, so he has only himself to blame."

It seems to the ROANOKE TIMES, however, that the judges "have been more intent on 'getting' Tilden than on maintaining the purity of the game." The Virginia paper recalls that "Tilden has been involved in one controversy after another with the United States Lawn Tennis Association in the past five years," and adds: "The charge that he has been high-handed and dictatorial at times in his attitude toward the governing body of the sport is not hard to sustain. In the present instance, however, he stands in somewhat better light before the public than his judges."

"Ordinarily, when a person violates an amateur rule," says the TERRE HAUTE STAR, "he becomes a professional. Mr. Tilden, however, is only barred from participating in tournaments and matches, and the ruling 'in no way makes him a professional.' That is almost too deep, even for a tennis committee. The amateur star is still privileged to visit the courts some bright morning and trade strokes with a player looking for the exercise. That will be a great concession to a man of his world tennis rating. At any rate, it is an epochal decision on the committee's part. Old Dogberry himself couldn't have done better."

"After all," thinks the BUFFALO EVENING NEWS, "there is a good deal of humbug about the amateur question. Some complain, perhaps with justification, that in the body which passed judgment on Tilden are men who, themselves, have capitalized the game of tennis." As the governing bodies in other countries "hold that Tilden did not violate the amateur rule," The News expects that "a move will be made for the adoption of a uniform rule on the issue involved," and it states further: "In fairness to Tilden, it should be said that he has done more than any other player in a generation to develop the game in this country."

"There are a couple of dozen well-known ways in which amateurs acquire comfortable livings," according to the FORT WORTH RECORD-TELEGRAM. "The powers that be who preside over the destinies of sports and sportsmen know that the participants in sports must have had shelter and sustenance to be in condition for tournaments. If they profit by the tweedle-dee route, all is well. But if they get a few dollars by the sale and barter of something listed as tweedle dum—they are in the midst of a bad fix."

Tilden as " a great factor for the popularity of tennis throughout the world," is recognized by the WASHINGTON STAR, which contends that "he is one of the greatest players who ever trod the courts and has been untiring in his efforts to develop younger players." The Star adds that "the line between amateurism and professionalism is constantly growing more indistinct, so that it would seem that, regardless of Tilden's faults and Tilden's offenses against the code of the association, it would be a wise move on the part of that body to study impartially its rule on amateurism."

Finding a parallel in golf, the NEW YORK EVENING WORLD remarks that "while Bobby Jones blasts far almost with a wave of his arm, he also writes about golf for newspaper syndication, and not a soul breathes a suspicion that he is other than an amateur." The BANGOR DAILY COMMERCIAL looks upon "the whole matter" as "rather far-fetched," and argues: "It does not appear for the best interests of the game to prevent players from aiding their incomes in legitimate ways, which would tend to confine tennis amateurs to the ranks of the wealthy."

Now of course," satirically remarks the PORTLAND OREGON JOURNAL, "it doesn't matter that the public might want to know from Mr. Tilden what occurred in a match in which he took a part. It doesn't matter that the public might want to get the details and his beliefs from Mr. Tilden. It doesn't even matter that an amateur might need to make a living as well as play tennis. That is all wrong. It is a grave offense for an amateur to write. He must no longer play with other amateurs. That would be a tragedy. The Lawn Tennis Association says so. What next?"

"The tennis authorities have much to learn from the golfers," in the judgment of the ST. JOSEPH NEWS-PRESS, which protests against "arbitrary regulations," and the HAVERHILL GAZETTE calls the Tennis Association's position "more than a bit ridiculous." The KANSAS CITY JOURNAL observes, in view of the temporary permission to Tilden to play in France: "Our condolences to Bill. Our largest sympathies, however, to the far-famed and once peerless Mr. Finnegan, whose agility at getting off and on again now is vastly surpassed."

The Way OF THE World

By GROVE PATTERSON

STUDENTS IN MEXICO

It is worth noting that 300 Americans attended the summer season of the Mexican National university in Mexico City this year. At the closing meeting one of the professors made an address in English. He said:

"It is time we destroyed the archaic stone of the Chinese wall separating Mexico from other nations, intellectually, morally and educationally. Isolation and mutual suspicion of nations and peoples in the past resulted from lack of information concerning neighboring peoples.

"Now nations no longer can live apart from one another. Improved means of communication, economic interdependence, political bonds and racial aspirations have long been bridging the distances separating people and races, and moulding the international mind. Governments feel the need of peaceful, international harmony, of which you by your presence here in the Mexican National university, are harbingers and symbols."

This is the kind of talk we are glad to have come over the wires. The United States and Mexico ought to be the best of friends and that friendship ought to be promoted on both sides of the border.

THE FLYING INFANT

Charles L. Lawrence, head of the Wright Aeronautical corporation, says his concern will probably deliver 1800 airplane engines this year. That's about half the country's output. More significant is Mr. Lawrance's prediction. Next year, he says, his company should turn out 6000 engines. Accidents by "stunters" and inexperienced airmen won't stop the real business of flying.

ANDREWS AGAIN

Roy Chapman Andrews, great explorer, after a 5000-mile journey with automobiles into the Mongolian desert and across the plains of central Asia, finds the remains of an animal so big a tall man with a high hat could stand under it. Dr. Andrews finds remains of ancient civilization, intimating that part of what is now China may have been more densely populated 20,000 years ago than it is now.

We are all indebted to the few men who, like Roy Chapman Andrews, are willing to undergo all sorts of hardships to piece together an ancient and interesting world. Among the great heroes of life are those who add to human knowledge.

WHAT NEXT?

The imagination goes out of business when we learn that experiments are being made in transmitting photographs from an airplane by radio to a broadcasting station.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

OLD AND NEW.

The reader of modern fiction may ignore the classics of the English language and think that the works of the novelists from Smollett down to those of the present generation ought to be relegated to the top shelves of the Libraries of the Land, but he or she should notice a thing or two now and then. Such an idea is "dead wrong."

Charles Dickens is still the most popular novelist. It was seemingly proved by the result of the popularity competition recently completed by Collins, the London publisher. Dickens heads the field with 142,956 votes.

Competitors were asked to select twelve of twenty famous classic writers and place them in order of popularity. Dickens is the time honored "runner-up." Scott, still holds second place, and among women writers George Eliot holds first place.

Voting lists were sent in from all over the world. London booksellers had distributed 400,000 of them. The complete result was: First, Dickens; second, Scott; third, Stevenson; fourth, Dumas; fifth, Thackeray; sixth, Eliot; seventh, Hugo; eighth, Kingsley; ninth, Austen; tenth, C. Bronte; eleventh, Mrs. Wood; twelfth, C. Reade.

Unplaced authors were: W. H. Ainsworth, R. D. Blackmore, George Borrow, Emily Bronte, Wilkie Collins, Mrs. Craik, Lord Lytton and Mrs. Gaskell.

Better take down some of the "old fellows" and compare the English written there with the modern "pidgeon English.'

VACATIONS

All over the world people are coming back from their vacations.

Some of them have exerted themselves so strenuously that the main thing they need after a vacation is a rest.

A strange idea is that you can rest a tired brain by over-exerting an untrained body.

Some people play round after round of golf, others swim too often or too long, others take far too strenuous exercise in walking or bicycling.

Extensive automobile trips are very trying to the nerves and often leave one exhausted.

The idea in a vacation is to change the kind of exercise of our bodies and brains.

If we have been working strenuously with our brain, it is an excellent vacation to loaf and do nothing. It does not always rest us to overexercise with our body.

Contrariwise those who have been engaged in too strenuous bodily work should pay more attention to their brain work in a vacation.

The truest recreation is to stop the tension, whatever it is, and give one's organisms time to even themselves up, and use those faculties that have been neglected.

Too much sightseeing results often in mental fatigue, and we soon tire of it.

Vacationing, as well as work, needs planning. It should send us back to our task refreshed and full of happy memories of the vacation time.

If we come back to our work tired and fagged out, our recreation has done us little good.

It is a wise man who knows how to divert himself without exhaustion.

Probably the best vacation is carefully doing nothing and giving body and brain a chance to rest up.

When we are doing nothing all our faculties are recuperating, and afterwards we are ready to attack our work with new vigor.

Tomorrow—Aloofness.

THE MOTHER

We saw her as she passed us by,
A mother with a wistful eye,
A mother with a brood of seven,
To help the world and later Heaven.

Her skirt was frayed and out of date,
Her hair was pulled back very straight;
Her face was pale and lined with care
And yet a certian charm was there.

Her hands which once were soft and white,
Were red with toiling day and night;
And yet no painted woman gay
So sweet a smile could quite display.

And even as I watched her there,
I saw her brood at evening prayer;
And thought of all the virtues good
The loveliest is motherhood.

Nor time, nor care, nor grief, nor toil
A mother's charm have power to spoil
However weary she may grow,
Her face still keeps the mother glow.

Tunney Adheres To Strict Training

PARIS, Sept. 7.—Even in Paris—the gayest city in the world—Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion, is adhering to the rigid and simple rules of his training days. He retires early and arises early. He does not drink nor smoke and is careful of his diet

The former champion today accepted an invitation to address the American club on Thursday when, it is expected, he will touch lightly upon pugilism but more especially upon the cultural delights of his European trip

Tunney has a number of friends in Paris and some of them usually accompany him upon his quiet rambles about the city. He is interested in the ancient cathedrals and shows an astonishing knowledge of their history.

Prince Edward And His Brother Almost Unnoticed For Once

Royal British Heirs Slip Quietly Into Marseilles, France, And Board Ship

(International News Service)

MARSEILLES, France, Sept. 7. — The Prince of Wales, who, with his brother, the Duke of Gloucester, arrived here today enroute for Africa, slipped so quietly from the train that few paid any attention to him the two royal brothers quietly boarded the Liner Kaiser-i-hind where they received municipal officials who extended formal greeting. Later the Prince visited the seamen's hospital where he delivered a little talk. Then he returned to the ship.

The other passengers, especially the women, are evincing the keenest interest in the royal heir and his brother.

Eastern Section Of North Carolina Is Promised Relief

(International News Service)

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 7.—Relief was seen today from floods in Eastern North Carolina caused by the Cape Fear, Neuse and Tar rivers overflowing their banks when the weather bureau announced rains had virtually ceased.

The Cape Fear stood at 53 feet at Fayetteville and the Neuse at 22 feet at Smithfield today. Weather bureau officials said that the crest of the flood would probably be reached tomorrow.

The Tar was several feet over its banks near Rocky Mount.

Three Young Women Nabbed In Mexico In Obregon Death

(International News Service)

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 7.—Three more young women were arrested today in connection with the investigation of the assassination of the late President-Elect Obregon.

The young women are suspected of being members of a group of Catholics who were accustomed to gather at the House of Concepcion Aceved where the slain who was held in connection with the assassination plot. They were arrested in Cordoba.

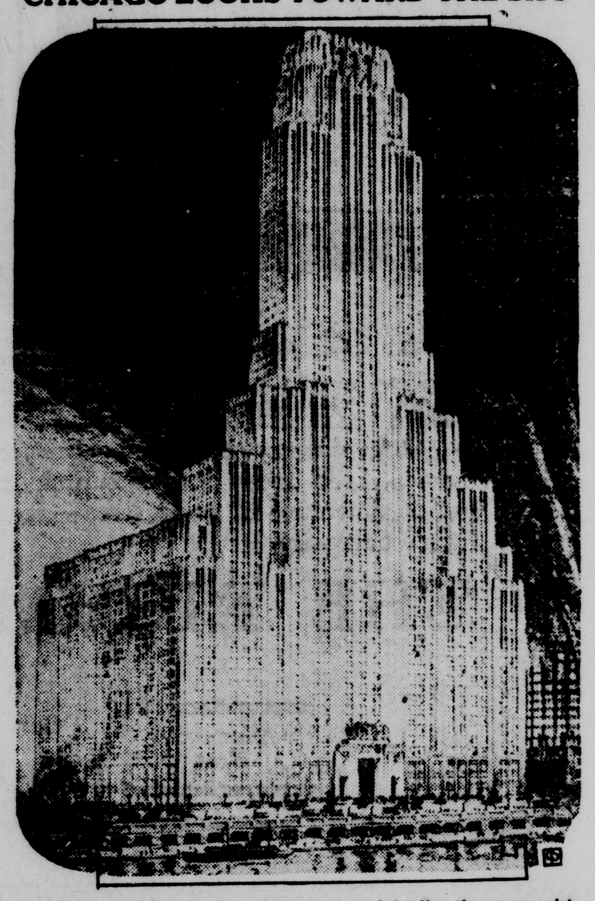

The prisoners gave the names of Josefina Hermila and Maria and Luis Naftali.

TRIUMPHS OVER BEAUTY CHAMPS

CHICAGO LOOKS TOWARD THE SKY

Sketch of a new 75-story skyscraper, to be taller than any existing building in the world, announced for Chicago. The structure is to be built for the Apparel Manufacturers' Mart Building corporation on Wacker Drive, and is to cost $45,000,000. In addition to mart space the building will house a 1,000-room hotel, a skyscraper garage and two convention halls. It is to be 75 feet higher than the Woolworth building in New York City.

WINS PRAISE OF STOCKINGLESS

William Bogan, above, Chicago's new superintendent of schools, has won the regard of feminine pupils by ruling that they may come to their classes stockingless if they so desire. "It is hardly the business of educators to say what girl students shall wear. Stockings and other items of dress, according to my views, are matters of personal preference and not to be regulated by school boards, teachers, superintendents or others," he declares. The stockingless fad is sweeping Chicago and the girls insist they won't return to hose until manufacturers reduce the prices or perfect a runless brand

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—After battling fog between Philadelphia and Baltimore, the Fairchild monoplane, "Stars and Stripes," one of the three planes of the Byrd South Pole expedition arrived at the naval air station field this afternoon from New York. It was piloted by Harold I. June.

The "Virginia," a Fokker Universal, piloted by Dean Smith, arrived two minutes later.

June declared he last saw the "Floyd Bennet," a Ford-8out all-metal plane, over Baltimore. Bernt Balchen was at the controls.

Over Thousand Pupils Attending Lincoln-Garfield

Pollock School Enrollment On First Day Is Nearly 500 Pupils

With the excitement of the opening of school subsiding, Principal James M. Hughes of Lincoln-Garfield has found time to check the enrollment for the first day. The enrollment according to Mr. Hughes is 1036.

The Pollock school enrollment was 486 on Thursday.

These figures show an increase in attendance over last year.

Concerning repairs to the Long avenue school Principal Hughes announced that the old wooden frame portable located outside of the school property has been replaced by a new steel one and that it has been moved inside the school property. The steel portable is not only warmer and bigger but is more durable and better equipped. It will be used by the Kindergarten class.

During the last year the Lincoln school had an opportunity class, a class consisting of students harder to teach and who could not grasp their subjects as readily. However, this practice has been discontinued.

Six new teachers have been added to the staff at Lincoln and Garfield. The subjects they will teach are as follows:

Miss Laney McIlvenny, arithmetic, spelling and writing; Miss Leona Hendrix, health education; Miss Elizabeth Glover, library, expression, and reading; Miss June Book, health, nature study, and dramatics; Miss Mildred Updegraff, dramatics.

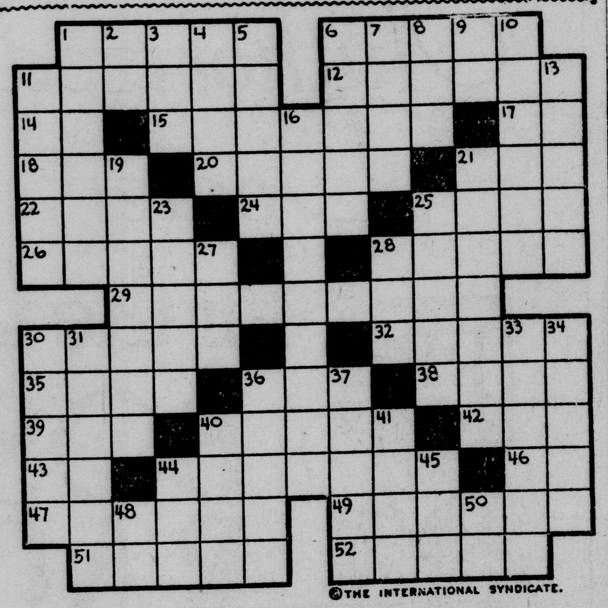

There are no new teachers at the Pollock school.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

KEEP YOUR EYE ON ME.

"How did the Cormorants catch the fish?" asked Peter. "Did they go about it in the same way as Kingfisher?"

"Well, no, Two-Legs not exactly" answered Bobolink who by this time had gotten over his displeasure at Sonny-Bunny's interruption.

"You see Kingfisher sat upon a branch over the water and waited until he caught sight of a fish swimming toward him; then when the fish was right beneath him he swooped down and caught it in his beak and brought his prey back to the branch where he ate it up. The Cormorants were already in the water so all they had to do was to pull their heads under the surface until they spied a fish and then chase it. And so quick were they and such strong swimmers that I don't think any poor thing they once got their eyes upon got away."

"I don't see how you could tell whether they caught what they were after or not Bobolink, if they stayed under water all the time" remarked the boy, Bobolink seemed surprised.

"Didn't I tell you that every time a Cormorant caught a mackerel or a herring he came to the surface, tossed the fish into the air and swallowed it head first? If I didn't I meant to" said he.

"It was very interesting to watch the Cormorants. First one and then another fellow would rise to the surface with his prey, show it to his companions and then eat it. After a while we noticed that it seemed to be a sort of game with them as to who could catch and eat the most."

"'A hungry lot my relatives' remarked Captain Cormorant after a while. The fellow had not stirred from his post. But as I came out so early and discovered the banks where fish were plentiful I think I have earned my right to a breakfast without going after it, don't you?"

"'Perhaps' replied wife, 'but how are you going to get it? Do you suppose any of those Cormorants are going fishing for you?'

"'Not on purpose but the results will be just the same.' Cormorant made a quer noise in his throat. We knew he was chuckling. All of my relatives have satisfied their first hunger and now they are fishing more for the fun of it than anything else. In a moment you will see them begin to show off. One will try to toss his fish higher into the air than another and by and by they will become reckless and miss their aim. I shall watch my chance and when I see a fish flop out of its captor's reach down I shall drop seize it and have a fine meal without much work. Keep your eyes on me if you want to see some fun.'"

WHAT A WRETCHED WORLD

If one-half of our imaginary trouble really happened.

If everything happened after election that the opposition prophesied.

If we had to depend upon rich homes for all our geniuses.

If modern youth were as bad as its critics say it is.

If, instead of a free ballot, none of us were permitted to vote.

If God rewarded us according to our deserts and not according to His affection for us.

If the newspapers ever came to look upon decency and virtue as news.

Your Choice of Any Suit, Topcoat or Tuxedo Suit

ALL $22.50

American men are showing their preference for Richman's Clothes in no uncertain way. Richman leadership in value has won leadership in sales. The third big addition to our great Cleveland factory will soon be adding its production to the immense output required to keep pace with sales in our 34 stores, and through our big mail order department.

We can offer no stronger evidence that Richman's Clothes completely satisfy in style and quality.

Richman's Clothes for fall demonstrate as never before the money saving power of Richman resources and efficiency—the capacity of the Richman organization for creating style and producing quality. These are not only the finest clothes we have ever produced in half a century's experience, but the finest, we believe, ever sold at such a price—more smartly styled, richer in quality of materials, finer in workmanship. But the price remains the same.

Our fall stocks are very complete—here, you may choose your new suit or topcoat from the greatest assortment of models, fabrics and shades ever offered at one price—greater variety than most stores show at all prices combined. You will see every new idea in style for men—and nothing that is not new and in good taste—sizes and proportions to fit any figure correctly.

TROUSERS

Our showing of separate trousers affords wide choice of materials in every conceivable pattern and shade—trousers to match a coat that is still good—trousers for every occasion.

New Collection System For Credit Bureau

The New Castle Credit Exchange which is composed of some 300 New Castle merchants has inaugurated a new system of collections in collaboration with their credit work for the members. This new system will not only check up on the debtors to the merchants but will be the collecting medium which will be used, according to the statement of Ray F. Hall, manager of the Exchange.

The new collection system has been devised not only to protect the merchant, states Mr. Hall, but to aid the buyer. Should the individual wish credit, his record will be such that if he deserves it, there will be absolutely no delay in the granting of it. Prompt and up to the minute records are kept of more than 70,000 persons in the city and county.

The main feature of the new collection system is that the person who owes the bill will be seen, in case he cannot pay, and his financial condition investigated. If his finances are such and conditions exist that the man cannot pay due to circumstances over which he has no control, credit will be extended and the account carried until payment is possible.

However, states Mr. Hall, if the investigation fails to show that the man would pay if he were able legal proceedure will follow. The Credit Exchange encounters innumerable people who will not pay nor make any attempt to pay. To this type of individual, the new legal manner of collections will be aimed.

The new collection system will be ready for operation about the fifteenth of September, states Mr. Hall.

Night In Washington Square Brings Out Hundreds

SOME DIARY NOTES OF NEW YORKER

By CLARK KINNAIRD
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Washington Square on a moonlit night—and a million brown babies playing on the pavement. It's not early in the evening—past eleven o'clock, an hour when most babies, the country over, are tucked away in their trundle beds. But not those of Washington Square, or of the glorified alleys called streets nearby. Midnight comes and the number diminishes somewhat.

But you may walk along any of the thoroughfares near the square on any evening, moonlit or otherwise, until late, and have difficulty in keeping from treading on these little urchins of the streets. There they play and thrive the clock around, in the midst of traffic, and odors, and with the rattling elevated an accompaniment to their childish cries. Above them their parents lean from windows or rest stretched on the doorsteps.

"And is this not a bad condition for these children?" I asked a welfare worker as we dodged a taxi in crossing a street. "Quite the contrary," came a reply. "You may take a group of these children, place them in a home, and you will find that the death rate of these village children is higher than that of almost any other group. They seem to thrive here, or at least, when planted in gentler soil, they are unable to meet the changed conditions as successfully as the other groups." And so a great city prepares its young for the battle of life.

Times Square at theater time — a chaos of lights and jostling crowds, but with now and then an interruption. Here's a break in the crowd, an aisle formed, and all eyes looking down. There on the walk, leading his master by a rope, is a great bulldog. The master, an armless and legless beggar, crawls along behind on his stumps. On the dog's back is a cup for coins and a bundle of pencils. A kindly soul bends down and drops a coin in the cup—then reaches for a pencil. He is rewarded by a snap from the dog and withdraws, embarrassed, to the laughter of his friends. The crowd closes behind the beggar and promptly forgets him. But a little farther along Broadway the dog turns and snaps again.

Don't believe just because you read it in books that superstition is a characteristic of the less developed or less civilized peoples. New York is full of superstition. Take in the matter of skyscrappers, for example. Many of them do not have a thirteenth floor, the elevators skipping from 12 to 14. The reason? It's easy. Offices on the thirteenth floor are hard to rent. And so the building owners, to insure themselves full revenue, just forget that there is a No. 13. And this is what is supposed to be the most civilized city of the world.

Rogers Park Home Of Police Captain Is Damaged By Blast; Gangsters Blamed

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—Peaceful Rogers Park on the gold coast of Chicago was shaken today by a bomb which wrecked the home of Police Captain Luke Garrick. The captain and members of his family escaped injury.

The vengeful hand of West side gamblers and vice lords was seen in the blast, which rocked the entire Rogers Park district, and caused thousands of dollars damage to the Garrick home.

Capt. Garrick recently was transferred from a North side to a West side station by acting commissioner William Russell.

In his new post he has been waging an active warfare against gambling and vice.

Presidents Son Refuses To Discuss Future Plans; Will Be Given Party Tonight

(International News Service)

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Sept. 7.—John Coolidge, son of the President, is 22 years old today and friends here are expected to entertain the President's son at a party in honor of the occasion.

He continued today to refuse to discuss anything concerning his plans in the future. According to reports he is said to be considering a position in the electrical supply plant of Governor Trumbull of Connecticut.

He was entertained last night at a dinner at the home of Mrs. R. B. Hill a neighbor and friend of the Coolidges. Later he visited the home of Dr. E. W. Brown to spend an evening with Dr. Brown's son, Stephen, John's roommate during his college days at Amherst.

They called off a dinner to welcome Texas Guinan back to Hollywood. Maybe there were federal agents lurking near.

"I am," answered Uncle Bill Bottletop.

"Do you practice it?"

"I try to. But prohibition is like music. It often takes a heap of practice before you get anywhere near perfect."—Washington Star.

Slippery Rock Opens Tuesday

Expansion Plans Are Made For Local State Teachers College

EIGHTEEN PUPILS FROM NEW CASTLE

(Special To The News)

SLIPPERY ROCK, Sept. 7.—When the big bell in the tower of the main building of Slippery Rock rings next Tuesday morning, it will call together the largest group of students ever enrolled at the College.

The capacity of the school is supposed to be seven hundred, but many more than this number have enrolled for the coming year.

Plans are already drawn and arrangements being made to spend a large sum at Slippery Rock in the next few years.

The plans include extensions to both dormitories to be used by the girls. This extension will take care of two hundred more girls. Plans are being made for the boys dormitory. The first unit to be built in the near future to accomodate two hundred boys.

An extension of 60x110 feet to the gymnasium is also planned, and when the work on the gymnasium is completed it will be one of the finest and best equipped gyms in the state of Pennsylvannia. It will have a fine swimming pool and all modern equipment.

New Model School

A new model school, 60x160 feet, one of the finest in the state, will be built. This building will be started within the next few weeks. The old Training School building will be used as a library and a museum.

The boiler house at Slippery Rock will be moved to a more suitable location and a stadium built where the boiler house now stands. Slippery Rock will have one of the finest athletic fields in the state. Work will begin on the new field as soon as the foot ball season is over this year.

A new Science Building, 60x80 feet, is also on the building program. One of the new features in school organization will be a new Social Building. The first unit of this building will be 60x80 feet. It is in this building that they will hold all social activities of the school: dances, parties, and similar affairs.

The reason that the attendance is increasing so fast at Slippery Rock is that a college degree is now granted in the four-year courses.

The faculty at Slippery Rock is excellent. There are sixty full time teachers at the college.

There are eight Traning teachers in New Castle. Their work is to train the student teachers to teach. Students from the college go to New Castle or other training centers and spend the last nine weeks of their Senior year teaching under these expert Training Teachers. Slippery Rock also has training centers at Coraopolis, Butler, and Turtle Creek.

Last year Slippery Rock graduated 287. Seventeen of these took the four-year course and were granted degrees.

This year's class is scattered over a large area.

Every year the state gives Slippery Rock State Teacher's College a specified sum of money to be used in helping improve the schools of the state. The service area of the high school is Lawrence, Butler, Beaver, and Allegheny Counties. The College renders what service it can to these counties in any way the county and city superintendents of these areas can best use the service.

Last year Mrs. G. B. Arnold, one of Slippery Rock's Music Teachers, went to Butler once a week to help the music teachers of that city with their music problems. Dr. Waldron, head of the Science Department, helped with the Nature Study Curriculum that is now under construction in the city of New Castle. Mr. Lady, teacher of Mathematics run a Correspondent Service with teachers in service who desired help. This service was used quite extensively and was much appreciated by the teachers in the county schools that could not have the guidance of a principal or head teacher. This year Slippery Rock is planning more correspondent work along this line. Mr. Wrigley conducted Standard Tests over Lawrence and Butler counties. This service will be used more this coming year.

According to the figures secured from the office of the New Castle Senior High School 18 of last year's class will go to Slippery Rock. This is more than will go to any other school. Westminster gets next highest number of New Castle's last year's class which is 16. Penn State comes next with 11; Geneva next with 7; Indiana, 3; University of Pittsburgh, 3; Carnegie Tech, 3; and a score of other schools with one of two of last year's New Castle's class enrolled.

MUSIC FOR CHOIR.

Choral music is music written in parts usually for four different voices and performed by a chorus or choir.

If daughter is in despair and doesn't know what to do with herself there isn't a single party or anything tonight.

Vet Stage Doorman Who Never Saw Show Hopes To 'Some Day'

BILL BRENNER.

By MATT WEINSTOCK.
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 7.—For 28 years Bill Brenner ager 57, has zealously guarded the stage portals of a vaudeville theater here. Yet he has never witnessed a complete show in any of the houses the theater has occupied during that time.

Brenner, clad in his blue coat with five golden stars and three stripes emblazoned on one sleeve, has watched the great and near-great of American vaudeville pass through his door. The stars and the stripes are emblematic of his long service and the curious little wrinkles beneath his eyes bespeak a kindly and humorous soul.

Bill discounts the idea that actors are temperamental.

"Chorus girls are the only ones who get uppity" observes the seer of the stage entrance "and then only once in a while. Actors and actresses are the finest people in the world."

Let one think that his task of guarding a stage door is not a position of much dignity and responsibility. Among other duties he must distinguish between the genuine and those who seek to 'crash the gate." Bill can do it too, and glories in stopping the "brothers" of actresses who are bill collectors or would-be friends.

Brenner's service with the circuit began when the house was located in what is the Mexican business quarter. It subsequently changed location three more times, now being situated in the heart of the downtown section in a beautiful, limit-height structure.

Bill has one ambation. He wants to see a show.

"Some time on my day off I'm going to the theater" Bill confides.

Keep Women Out Of "Wheat Pit"

Chicago Board Of Trade Stock Gambling Barred To Women

CHICAGO CHATTER OF VARIOUS SORTS

By IONE QUIMBY
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—The only place of chance not open to women in Chicago is the board of trade, where stocks are played on the margin. The old adage that 'most women holler when they lose" still holds in the wheat pit, which is open only to men. Men guard the doors to keep women out, but the shrieking and yelling of men as the stocks are marked on the big board is one of the curious dins of the Loop.

Time plays strange tricks in family geneologies, and the old saying that fortunes skip a generation is often true. There is a woman by the name of Mrs. Van Rensaaeler Breckinridge, living on North Clark street, who does the weekly washing for a woman on Sheridan road by the name of Mrs. Bridget O'Brien.

The first red teakettle in the country was originated in Towertown by an ingenius little thing named Nancy, who paints and dresses silk and woolly French dolls, while her husband does futuristic masterpieces. The old teakettle sprung a leak so Nancy got a soldering iron to mend it, then painted it a gorgeous Chinese red so she wouldn't get the blues every time she looked at it. Its original color was a dull gray. With the spread of Nancy's red teakettle idea other alley dwellers copied it, and finally housewives all over the nation got to demanding colored kitchenware. Most fads get their start in some such way.

There are few orgies in Towertown. Mostof the wild Bohemian parties are thrown on the "fringe" by men and women who couldn't paint a picture worth selling if their lives depended upon it. There is a spirit of gay comradliness among the dwellers, a certain clannishness and a hatred of conventional hypocricy, but there is little of the bizarre for the sake of being bizarre and an astonishingly small amount of orgies and dissipation. The artist-wife may serve the punch in the baby's silver tinted bathtub, or the extra guest may have to park on a couple of pillows stuffed with goosefeathers in the family tub, but such odd doings are from necessity of having to double up and not because of orgies.

Once a year the smart set, led by Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick and others, finances a ball to which the artists of Towertown are invited, with the stipulation that they are to furnish the amusement. The program is usually one of beautiful tableaux, artistic dances and modernistic playettes, which invariably disappoints the majority of persons why go simply to see Bohemia indulge in its orgies.

The value of a bit of sculpture, by Tennesse M. Anderson, took a sudden spurt upward when Mrs. McCormick saw in the face of the figure a striking likeness to herself. Immensely pleased, Mrs. McCormick expressed a wish to have one like it, and said the face couldn't be more like hers if she had modelled for it. The figure is an odd little thing called "The Pope's Flapper" and was conceived after a certain high churchman prophesied women would wear little more than gloves, a hat and galoshes fifty years hence if they continued to discard items of wearing apparel. The bit of sculpture is several feet tall and is garbed in the three articles—hat, gloves and galoshes.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Things like this do happen, you know, but whether it actually happened here is the garage man's responsibility. He tells the story and you can have it for what it's worth.

A Scotchman had just bought a new car, the first he had ever owned. Passing a service station he noticed the sign "Free Air". Pulling up the air valve he proceedd to fill up and filled up so enthusiastically that he blew out four tires.

Did a little roaming around Ellwood City last night. It's always a pleasure to visit our hustling neighbors to the south. And they are hustlers. The town shows it, the people reflect it, and standing around a street corner there for a while convinces you that Ellwood City folks are for Ellwood City.

Why not? Ellwood City against the world seems to be their motto and it's a good one. They believe they have the best town in the state and are willing to prove it if you have any doubt about the matter. You and I might disagree wtih the opinion, but you can't help but admire the fellow who roots for his home town.

They have a couple of schools down there that do credit to any city, a street lighting system that stands out, stores that look like trading centers of a much larger city, and a very apparent spirit of cooperation.

Nice place, Ellwood City.

One of the minor irritations in a newspaper man's life is to have some one take him out to see something unusual and then charge him to say nothing about it. Had that experience yesterday. A very estimable gentleman invited me up to see his "den" and I saw what I believe is the finest thing of its sort in this county or in western Pennsylvania.

He was most insistent about not using anything about it, particularly his name and I don't intend to. And that's bad for I could have waxed most enthusiastic about the giant moose head he has on the wall, or the two mountain sheep he has mounted, or the mountain goat with its dare-devil expression. Or the beautiful bear skins on the floor, and all of the skins and heads, the trophies of the gentleman's eagle eye back of a heavy rifle.

It's an unusual den, one that really should get some publicity but there's that promise to say nothing about it. And I won't, but if it were not for the promise I would say that it is about the kippiest thing I ever saw and aside from being evidence of good shooting reflects a keen taste for the unusual.

SERVEL
Electric Refrigeration

6 reasons why you will want the new Servel

1. Greater beauty and simplicity in design—inside and out.
2. Better construction and finish. Heavy pressed "Armco" steel with one-piece lining of porcelain.
3. Simpler, sturdier mechanical equipment—quiet, foolproof and more economical to run.
4. The coldest refrigerant—hence the most efficient—in household use.
5. Greater freezing capacity—more ice trays—more cubes—easier to handle—quick to freeze.
6. Better temperature control—entirely automatic. No delicate devices to get out of order.

You can buy Servel on easy terms

Any of the Servel models, as well as the Servel installation in your own refrigerator, can be purchased for a moderate first payment and the balance spread over a convenient term of months. Ask for details.

Senator Borah Will Champion Russian Cause

Senator Borah Ready To Fight In Senate For Recognition To Soviet Russia

CONFIDENT TREATY WILL BE RATIFIED

Borah To Use Position On Foreign Relations Committee To Aid Russia

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Submission of the Kellogg anti-war treaty to the senate may be the starting point of a new drive for recognition of Russia, it was indicated here today.

The treaty will be in charge of Sen. Borah (R) of Idaho, chairman of the foreign relations committee, who long has championed the claim of the soviet Republic for official standing in the family of nations.

Although Borah is so keenly interested in the ratification of the outlawry of war covenant that he is unlikely to take drastic action which would jeopardize its success, he is known to feel strongly that the success of any anti-war pact in Europe depends upon faithful cooperation of Russia.

Borah Opposes Proviso.

The adherence of Russia has already raised delicate questions of procedure in the minds of diplomats here and senators who will be called upon to champion ratification.

Borah is known to oppose a recognition proviso on the anti-war treaty, and he also is understood to regard the invitation to Russia to adhere to the treaty as recognition in principle.

The fact of Russia's adherence may not be submitted to the senate by the state department, unless she should adhere with reservations. The attitude of the soviet republic, as reported to have been expressed in a note to the French government, is not interpreted as a reservation.

"I regard the treaty as a great step forward," he said. "It proceeds upon the right principle, and I am confident of its ratification by an overwhelming vote."

The only obstacle seen by the Idaho senator is a report that the administration plans to submit the navy department $3,000,000,000 20-year naval program before the treaty. Borah believes that this program would meet defeat and jeopardize the treaty. These reports of a revival of the Wilbur program, however, have been denied in official circles. Instead, the administration is expected to seek passage of the house cruiser program, now pending in the senate.

Athens' Unknown God

Brass Tacks On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

From Berea Paul went far to the southward to the seat of ancient Greek culture in Athens. Having left Luke at Philippi, Timothy at Thessalonica and Silas at Berea, he found himself absolutely alone in the metropolis of ancient art and philosophy. He felt his loneliness and for some days surveyed the religious situation before venturing to declare his gospel publicly in the market place where the Athenians practiced as their favorite outdoor sport "telling or hearing some now thing." They looked upon Paul as a "babbler" (literally a "seed-picker"), and a "setter forth of strange gods," and they invited him to address them in the Areopagus or Mars Hill, the seat of their supreme court.

Paul on Mars Hill.

Paul's use of this opportunity is one of the world's finest examples of salesmanship. He gripped their sympathetic interest immediately by complimenting them for their religious zeal: "Ye men of Athens, in all things I perceive that ye are very religious. For as I passed along, and observed the objects of your worship, I found also an altar with this inscription, 'TO AN UNKNOWN GOD.' What therefore ye worship in ignorance this I set forth unto you." Thus tactfully he prepared the way for his sermon in which he told them of the true God as Creator and Giver of all good, and Establisher of the brotherhood of all nations, quoting some of their own poets in his arguments. Thus he led them on to Christ and his death and resurrection for their sins, at the mention of which the meeting broke up. But not until there were some conversions, including even one of their supreme court judges.

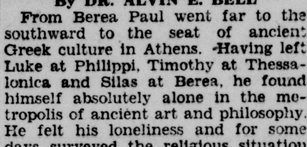

From Athens, Paul journeyed 45 miles southward to Corinth, where he cast his lot with his fellow-craftsmen, Aquila and Priscilla, and worked with them at tent making for his daily bread. At this Labor Day season it is well for us to remember that Paul was as unashamed to class himself with the humble craft of tent makers in proud and cultured Greece as his Lord was to be numbered among the carpenters of Galilee. He doubtless felt that he was serving his Lord as fully while handling the coarse tent cloth as while handling the word of truth. To the thoroughly consecrated Christian there is no distinction between secular and sacred vocations, but all lawful labor is sacred. Aquila's tent shop was as sacred as a cathedral. And so today the lathe and bench may be as sacred to the layman as the pulpit to the preacher. Let us be through with the heresy of calling one Christian's work sacred and another's secular.

The Sustaining Vision.

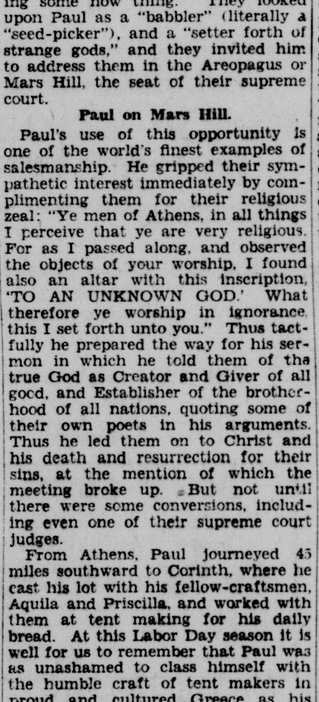

Paul was perfectly human in his moods and temperament. He had his periods of despondency as all world moulding characters have had. Here at Corinth the opposition of his enemies and the unspeakable immoralities of paganism crushed Paul's spirit, and he must have been on the verge of despair, when we read that "the Lord said unto Paul in the night by a vision, 'Be not afraid, but speak and hold not thy peace: for I am with thee, and no man shall set on thee to harm thee: for I have much people in this city.' And he dwelt there a year and six months, teaching the word of God among them."

Truly, the Lord will keep his promise to those who accept his last great commission to make disciples of all nations: "Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."

(The international uniform lesson for Sept. 9 is Acts 17:16 to 18:17; I Cor. 2:1-16; I Tim. 2:3-7, the subject being "Paul in Athens and Corinth," and the Golden Text, I Cor. 2:2, "For I determined not to know anything among you, save Jesus Christ and him crucified.")

Bible Class Has Tureen Dinner Event Thursday

Election Of Officers Takes Place; Other News Of Seventh Ward

Covers were arranged for twenty-three at the McCoy Bible class tureen dinner in the dining room of the Mahoning M. E. church Thursday evening. The dinner was served at 6 o'clock. The dinner table was attractively decorated with boquets of gladioli. An elaborate menu was enjoyed. Mrs. C. B. Rombo of West Chester, Pa., was a special guest.

Following the dinner a business meeting was conducted. The annual election of officers took place during the meeting. Officers elected were as follows: President, Mrs. Will Logan; vice-president, Mrs. R. C. Cather; secretary, Mrs. Sam Fowler; treasurer, Mrs. Henry Evans. It was also decided that the class would continue to be known as the McCoy Bible class in memory of Mrs. I. E. McCoy former teacher of the class who passed away a short time ago. At the present time the class is taught by Mrs. C. E. Arble.

After the business meeting a social time was enjoyed in chat. Committee in charge of the arrangements for the dinner was comprised of, Mrs. Will Logan, Mrs. Q. E. Davy and Mrs. R. C. Cather.

LARGE CROWD AT CORN ROAST

Several hundred were in attendance at the corn and weiner roast held by the congregation of St. Lucia Italian Catholic church Thursday evening. The event was held at the corner of Cedar street and Wabash avenue. In spite of the rain all attending had a good time.

Music played by the Christopher Columbus band directed by Victor Gaspare added to the evening's entertainment. Sixty pounds of weiners were consumed besides corn and other eatables.

Glorious Health Returns After 9 Years' Suffering

Claims He Spent $1,000 Without Getting Relief, Before Using Ten Herbs.

In many cases the great natural medicine, Ten Herbs, has been taken by local sufferers who were very much discouraged, having tried many other medicines without being benefited, and who were nearly resigned to living the rest of their lives in hopeless misery, says the Ten Herbs Man, who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, New Castle, where he is daily demonstrating this new herbal compound to crowds of men and women of all ages and stations in life. But numerous times, in just such instances, Ten Herbs gave such surprising benefits that the sufferer was soon entirely relieved, according to reports reaching the Ten Herbs Man.

MR. PERRY LARIMORE

"I suffered with indigestion for about nine years, and although I spent about $1,000 trying to find relief, Ten Herbs was the only medicine that ended my health troubles," was the recent statement of Mr. Perry Larimore, Post Office Box 81, Petrolia, Pa., (near Butler), according to the Ten Herbs Man. "My appetite was so poor that often I took a full dinner pail to work and brought it home again without having eaten a bite of food," Mr. Larimore continued. "I was troubled with gas and bloating. My nerves were unstrung, and I could not sleep well at night. I had rheumatism in my back and shoulders. Upon arising in the morning I would feel as tired as when I went to bed.

"A friend told me how Ten Herbs had benefited him, and I started using your medicine. I have taken a number of bottles, with the result that I have never felt better in my life than I do now. I am glad of the opportunity to tell others what Ten Herbs has done for me."

The Ten Herbs Man is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

The Most Expensive Thing You Ever Bought

Now honestly, what was the most expensive thing you ever bought? Wasn't it the dress, or the pair of shoes that you put away in the closet after a few wearings—the article that didn't quite please you when you got it home.

Sometimes this is because your mind was too uncertain, but generally the article did not look as well after a few wearings as you thought it would. That is exactly the reason we do not sell shoddy goods, job lots or bankrupt stocks. Our merchandise must stand the most rigid inspection before we offer it to you. De don't want any of those 'expensive purchases" to be from this store, if we can help it.

Compile Report For New Manual Of Hotel Service

John L. Slack, manager of The Castleton, E. M. Shanley, assistant steward, and Charles Nichols of the Bell Telephone company have just finished a complete report covering every phase of telephone operating practices in hotel management, which will be used in the hotel manual which is being published by the American Hotel's Corporation.

The American Hotels Corporation is publishing a manual which will include in detail every phase of hotel operating. Each hotel manager throughout their system have been allotted a section to prepare for the book. Mr. Slack was assigned telephone operating and in conference with E. M. Shanley and Charles Nichols of the Bell company here has completed an extensive report which gives that phase of hotel management in full.

FELT MISERABLE ALL OVER BEFORE TAKING KONJOLA

Miseries Of Kidney Trouble And Sluggish Liver Ended By New Medicine.

MR. FRANK G. RUNKLE
Seavy Photo

Many people of this city who have suffered for years and were never able to find relief, are declaring that this new Konjola medicine restored them to health. In most cases, these people have stated that Konjola so completely ended their ailments that none of their old troubles returned and they have been able to quit taking medicine entirely. This accounts for the great stream of public testimonials which are coming from men and women of this vicinity, and received at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington street, this city, where the Konjola Man is personally introducing and explaining this advanced remedy to crowds of people daily. One of the latest reports came from Mr. Frank G. Runkle, R. F. D. No. 1, Ellwood road, New Castle:

"Since taking Konjola I am free of every health trouble I ever had", said Mr. Runkle, "I am sure that there is not a better medicine in the drug store today to build up a completely rundown system."

"I have never been able to find out what made my condition so rundown. It seemed to me that the least exertion would completely tire me out. My liver was in a very sluggish condition and in spite of all kinds of laxatives that I would take, my system kept on being congested with the poisons of my body. My eyes had a yellowish color in them and the headaches used to bother me all the time. My kidneys were in a weakened condition also, and at night when I would go to bed I had to rise three or four times. This made it awful hard for me to get any rest at all and I would get up the next morning feeling worse than when I went to bed. Finally my health got so bad that I could not go to work and when I say that in two years time, I only worked 11 weeks, I am not exaggerating a bit. I had taken lots of medicines and they did not do me any good, and I was getting awfully discouraged.

"I noticed in the paper one night where a case similar to mine had been relieved by Konjola and I decided to get some. I took it for only four days and I began to notice a great change in my health. I kept right on taking this medicine until I had completed a full treatment. Now my liver never bothers me at all and my bowels move with greater ease and freedom than ever before. My eyes are bright and clear now and those awful headaches that I formerly suffered are gone. My kidneys are well and strong now and when I go to bed at night, I can sleep right on thru until the next morning. When I get out of bed, I feel strong and healthy and all during the day I can work right thru without getting the least bit tired. My food digests right and I have a better appetite than before. I shall always strongly recommend Konjola so that others may gain the same benefits that I did.

The Konjola Man is at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

Konjola contains juices from 22 natural plants—more than other medicines. It is a new compound that works with the sufferer's own food, restoring more healthy action to the important organs (stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels) and produces new energy and glorious health in a natural way, thru the whole inner-system.

Once Planned To Drain Lake

Illinois Folks Of 1823 Had Plan To Do Away With Lake

SOME CHATTER FROM CHICAGO

(By IONE QUINBY)
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—While numerous persons are familiar with the practice of filling in the edge of Lake Michigan to make new land for the growing metropolis few are aware that a bill was nearly passed once providing that the lake should be entirely done away with.

This was during Gov. Cole's administration in 1823, when certain Illinois folk thought land worth more than water and believed the state would be healthier if Lake Michigan was drained.

Since 1823 not only considerable water has passed "over the dam"—as it were—but the world gives credit to the lake for being the big feature in Chicago's development. It's numerous bathing facilities and cool breezes combine to make it one of the greatest summer resorts in the world, while the lake is the only body of water to stretch the full length of a large city. In addition to this there is the passenger and freight service and one of the finest fleets of yachts in the country.

What becomes of the condemned lake boat? This is one of the many queries I get. The fate of such boats varies, but the final chapter is the same. The Eastland, which caused a great loss of lives, toppling over with nearly 1800 picnickers aboard, is serving time under the alias of U. S. S. Wilmette, and at the present time is a training boat for the naval reserve. Where frolickers once danced or promenaded, naval men now pace the deck and guns show threateningly at the sides.

The Favorite, which sank when a summer squall hit it in 1927, hurling pleasure trippers like ants into the lake, has been changed so that hundreds passing it each day are unaware of its identity. The wording "Favorite, Round Trip for 25 Cents" has been erased and the boat cut down to half. It lies in Abe Burrell's ship yard at Oakdale among various yachts and craft, with its upper deck gone—a sort of outcast in its loneliness. The owner and captain, Arthur ("Beef") Olson, changed the boat hoping to sell it, but buyers, without knowing why, seem to sense its illfame.

Heroes don't all have the same motives, whatever stuff they may be made of. A taxicab driver not long ago picked up a fare in the Loop and was told to drive south through Jackson Park. When they reached the park, just off the lake, the lady tapped upon the window and said: "Stop here, I want to commit suicide." The cab stopped, and the woman scrambled down to the lake. Sitting in his cab, the driver pretty soon heard a loud splash. Twenty or thirty seconds went by when he suddenly leaped from his seat, dashed down to the lake and pulled out his erstwhile fare, kicking and struggling madly. At the station, he vowed he didn't want a medal, "because, you see, I wasn't thinking of her so much as the company. When I heard the splash, I looked at the meter, and it read 85 cents, and I knew it was up to me to collect it."

Demand For Highway Guide Exhausts Half Of Entire Printing

HARRISBURG, Sept. 7—More than half of the 1928 edition of "Pennsylvania Highways," annual publication of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways, has been distributed to meet the demands of State residents and tourists from virtually every state in the Union as well as many Canadian provinces.

The book contains touring information, scenic views, route descriptions and historic outlines covering many of the landmarks dating back to Revolutionary ties. Four cents postage, to cover mailing, is asked by the Department. The book is free. Many letters commend the new shape of the book, a handy size not subject to damage as were former editions.

Department officials say early requests were not accompanied by postage and ask that this be borne in mind.

Boys Use Stands To Sell Farm Products

HARRISBURG, Sept. 7.— Boys studying vocational agriculture in Pennsylvania have learned to take advantage of the many opportunities o marketing produce from their home projects by means of a roadside market, reports made to the department of public instruction indicate.

Several boys from each of the 135 rural communities where vocational agriculture is taught in the state, live along improved highways, where a roadside market may be established and products such as eggs, honey sweet corn, tomatoes, berries and peaches may be marketed to an advantage.

Many of these boys have learned that the economic problem on their home farms was not so much one of production, but rather one of efficient marketing. The roadside market advantageously placed along a well-traveled highway, helps to solve the marketing problem for a large number of vocational students.

Males are sensitive things and it must hurt a rooster's vanity to see a lot of publicity to an egg laying contest.

Leaves Force To Build New Model 'Plane

HANCOCK, Va., Sept. 7.—His forge stands idle and the horseshoes rust on the racks while S. W. Lambert, 74-year-old blacksmith spends his declining days building an airplane that he believes will be able to cross the Atlantic in 11 hours.

Lambere believes his craft will attain a speed of 300 miles an hour and in addition will be able to hop off from a standing position, "rarin' right up in the air" instead of having to taxi on rubber tires. It will be a cabin ship with a pilot and four passengers.

Lieut. Glen Martin a Hancock boy and war time aviator has consented to conduct test flights this fall.

The past five years of Lambert's life have been devoted to the airplane slowly taking shape in his back yard from parts whittled and smoothed and adjusted in his combined bedroom, living room and workship at the rear of the old blacksmith shop.

The shop itself he padlocked, being through with it forever. He enters it only under protest. Its only value in his eyes is a storage place for his cherished Hall-Scott motor. With no intermediate auto-tinkering era Lambert made the jump from horseshoeing to airplane construction.

"I started working on this airplaine as a part-time job" he said. "I got to thinking that I wanted to do it and I might as well. And after I got into it the blacksmithing bothered me so that I shut up shop."

As Lambert originated his airplane he made each individual part different from such parts on all other airplanes as he had stoudied them in aviation magazines. He developed a cyclonic propeller, now patented with a swirl on the end of the blade; a four-purpose stabilizer; an uplifter to take the place of the conventional gear; a different wing and shape, different fuselage and tail type and different allerons. In its every line the airplane is Lambert's own idea.

No working drawing or blue print aids him. He made a model but he gave it away as a bird house.

Steady Demand For Pulpwood Is Aid To Forest Owners

HARRISBURG, Sept. 7.— Growing demand for pulpwood will furnish forest tree growers with a dependable market for many years, officials of the department of forests and waters said today. At present more than 500,000 cords are consumed in Pennsylvania annually.

Many of the forest tree plantations in Pennsylvania are now 20 years old and ready for thinning, which can be used for pulpwood. Most of the trees distributed from the state nurseries are sutiable for that purpose.

12 Year Old Walks Three Miles Asleep

(International News Service)
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 7.—Little 12-year-old Viola Hall wandered in her sleep three miles from the tourist camp in which she was staying with her parents who were traveling through here before being awakened by the bark of King Tut a police dog some three miles out of town at 4 o'clock in the morning.

The owner of the police dog wakened by the furious barking of the beast found Viola huddled against the hedge of the front yard her night gown in tatters and quaking from fear of the big dog.

Hall Will Speak At State Meeting

Ray F. Hall, manager of the New Castle Credit Exchange, leaves tomorrow for Reading, Pa., where he will attend the meeting of the Associated Credit Bureau of Pennsylvania which will take place there on September 10 and 11.

At that meeting, Mr. Hall will address the gathering of credit men on the proposed Garnishee law which will entitle merchants to levy on debtors' salaries, if passed.

This new law is proposed by merchants but is being opposed by the industries who do not wish to care for the extra book keeping which the law would involve.

Patronage Of Camps For Tourists Shows Decline In Season

HARRISBURG, Sept. 7.—A survey just completed by the engineering bureau of the State Health Department shows a decided dropping off in the patronage at the tourist camps throughout the Commonwealth.

Howard F. Bronson, department engineer, who supervised the inspection, said that the regulations adopted by the department's advisory board for the protection of tourists in camps have in most instances been well observed. These rules are aimed to insure water and approved sanitary facilities.

The farm and village lodging houses, according to Bronson, apparently have been the cause in noticeably diminishing the number of travelers formerly using tourist camps, especially during wet weather. The lodging houses are being investigated by the department's bureau of restaurant hygiene.

Pioneer Trader's Will Is Found

READING, Pa., Sept. 7.—The will and last testament of the pioneer Indian trader Conrad Weiser leader of Berks community life in the early colonial days was found here among some old parchments stored away in a dusty loft of the Berks county court house.

Although worn ragged by time and past handling the original decree of the celebrated colonial judge, teacher and religious leader, scribed November 24, 1759 should prove an exceptional relic, highly valued to the descendants of Conrad Weiser who gathered here September 1 to participate in the dedication.

Conrad Weiser was of prolific ancestors and was himself the father of 15 children eight of whom died in the minority according to the document.

French Soldier Drops To Death

STRASBOURG, France, Sept. 7.—Doing a Lowenstein cost the life of young Dreyer a soldier on the eve of being demobilized from the local garrison.

Dreyer wanted to get his air baptism before being mustered out of the army. An aviator friend obliged him. At 2,000 feet Dreyer went to find out how Lowenstein met his end. He opened the side door and put his feet on the step ladder out of the plane. The ladder gave way.

Dr. Campbell Warns Of Rabies Dangers

HARRISBURG, Sept. 7.—Dr. J. Moore Campbell, chief of the bureau of communicable diseases of the State Health Department issued a warning against rabies. "News items frequently note casualties from dog bites," Dr. Campbell said. "Bites of this nature often are occasioned merely by an excited disposition on the part of the dog involved. However, there are isolated instances where rabies has been back of the bite. During the first six months of this year four deaths from this cause have been reported. It is entirely probable that the summer months' toll from this disease will make a larger number for the second six months.

"Dog bites should always be considered seriously, particularly if the animal shows any unusual actions at the time," Dr. Campbell warned. "Pasteur treatment, which is a preventive and not a treatment for rabies, will be administered if the facts of the case justify such action on the part of your physician. Once rabies attacks a victim death in all probability is inevitable. Therefore, take no chance with dog bites. Consult your physician and follow his advice."

A jury is a body of citizens that tries the case according to the evidence and its prejudices.

Auto Thieves Find State Is Not Good Stolen Car Market

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 7—Pennsylvania is not a good market for stolen cars reports of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways indicate. The state highway patrol reports the arrests of 26 persons in connection with stolen cars in the month of July. Twice as many cars from other states were recovered in Pennsylvania than were stolen in Pennsylvania and recovered elsewhere.

The state highway patrol the Pensylvania state police and other agencies were responsible for recovery of 74 cars in July with an estimated value of $43,875. One of the principal means of detecting stolen cars is in checking title records of the bureau of motor vehocles.

During the first seven months a total of 627 stolen cars were recovered with an estimated value of $345,954. All of the popular models are included in the list which is liberally dotted with names of cars ranging in the $2,000 to $3,000 class.

According to July report 36 cars were abandoned by thieves. In 12 instances cars were found in the possession of persons not the rightful owners but not the thieves themselves.

Five Pennsylvania cars were found in other states but Pennsylvania recovered 11 cars from other states.

Teeth Capture More Than Eyes

(International News Service)

LONDON, Sept. 7.—Poets, rhapsodising down the ages of their beloved features have apparently missed the chief attraction of all if Dr. Frazier head of the British Dental association is believed.

Addressing the annual conference of the association here Dr. Fraser maintained that a woman's crowning glory is her teeth.

"The modern woman is arming herself with another weapon to become attractive and alluring" he said. She is realizing that a row of sparkling teeth is a telling ally to a pair of sparkling eyes.

"A row of sparkling teeth have captured more hearts than a pair of sparkling eyes," he added.

If the good die young a lot of middle aged people are going to be surprised at a certain gate.

American Gang Of Art Thieves In London Raid

By J. KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 7.—It has been disclosed that an American gang of art thieves came over to London for the sole purpose of raiding the 50 million dollar art exhibition at Olympia which has just closed.

The attempt was foiled by Scotland Yard, who learned of the thieves presence in time to take elaborate precautions.

A London weekly journal alleges that the thieves were "commissioned by "unscrupulous collectors, who gloat over their treasures in secret, and who offered to purchase any of the stolen objects at the gang's own price."

Expected Big Haul.

As the exhibition consisted of the largest number of world-famous masterpieces ever exhibited at one time the thieves were looking forward to a good haul.

However, they betrayed their presence by allowing one of their leaders to visit the exhibition.

He was immediately spotted by one of the "watches", who recognized him as an art crook wtih an international reputation.

Scotland Yard was informed and "Yard men" were detailed to keep track of the members of the gang known to the police. At the same time the guards at the exhibition were tripled. At night the lights were kept burning and all exits sealed with the exception of one.

"With these precautions," said an official of the exhibition, "we succeeded in preventing any raid. The crooks would have had to been supermen to steal anything.

Treasure At Stake.

"However, we know that there are unscrupulous collectors in America who would give their ears to get hold of, for example, the $750,000 Cowper Raphael Madonna, lent by Sir Joseph Duveen, or the famous Wilton Diptych, an absolutely unique and priceless example of supposed English 14th century painting representing Richard II before the Virgin.

"And in addition to these masterpieces there were trinkets which could have been concealed in the palm of the hand, and which are worth thousands."

Folks Leave Nighties Behind In Pullmans, Train Records Show

(International News Service)

WICHITA, Kansas, Sept. 7.—Nighties, frilly, lacy, delicately tinted ones or long sleeved, gathered at the yoke outing flannel ones, regardless of their alluring cost are one item of clothing mostly frequently left in Pullman cars when the train comes to a jolty halt, according to the records of lost and found articles kept by C. W. Gardner, union station agent here.

"It's their nighties they don't seem to care about," says Mr. Gardner. "Just gather them up by the dozens, sometimes separately and sometimes just bunch them up with the laundry to be sent out. We find many more in the winter than summer. I guess people need what few clothes they carry when traveling in summer time and it's no problem to tuck a little necessity into a handbag when they are so thin."

1,800 Silver Dollars Of Ancient Vintage Found In Old Stump

(International News Service)

DANVILLE, Ind., Sept. 7.—James Ashe, a farmer living between Perryville and Mackville is the owner of more than 1,800 silver dollars all bearing dates prior to 1853 which he found in a copper kettle in an old stump.

Ashe was walking through a thicket when his dog scared up a rabbit and chased it into the old hollow stump. The dog barked and refused to leave the stump and Ashe finally decided to help him get the rabbit.

As he stuck his hand into the stump Ashe encountered the top of the kettle. At the next stroke Ashe obtained an old discolored silver dollar. He continued his excavation and finally removed a good sized copper kettle full of tarnished silver dollars.

The money apparently had been resting in the stump for decades. Speculation was rife here today where the dollars came from. It was believed by some that bank robbers perhaps members of Jesse James' gang hid the money.

Says No Magic In Science

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—There is no magic in science according to Dr. Gerald L. Wendt dean of Pennsylvania State College and lecturer at the American Chemical Society Institute.

The public has heard so much about the accomplishments of science especially the astonishing success which chemists have had in this country since the great war" Dean Wendt declared in an address here "in introducing new materials and establishing new industries that the public attitude has entirely changed.

"Formerly a professor of chemistry was thought of as an old man, dry as dust who locked himself in his laboratory and worked with poisons and smoke that were of no interest to anyone else. He was the old type magician. Nowadays people think of him as a public performer, a magician like Thurston or Houdini who can pull almost any thing out of his bag of tricks without warning.'

The objection to a two story garage is that it affords young Lindbergs a better opportunity to break their necks when it doesn't work.

Dinner Club Will Resume

First Consistory Dinner Club Meeting Of Fall On September 28

SCOTTISH RITE FALL REUNION IN OCTOBER

The Consistory Dinner Club is to resume operations September 28, when the first dinner party of the fall season will be held at the Consistory building on Lincoln avenue.

The dinner parties this fall and winter will be in keeping with the ones held the past season and it is believed they will prove just as popular, if not more so. The committee in charge expects to make the opening party one of the finest yet held and set a pace for the other events of the season. The dinner will be followed by some kind of entertainment, the nature of which has not yet been decided upon, and the rest of the evening will be devoted to dancing and cards.

Hon. William J. Moffatt as general chairman of the Dinner Club will in a few days announce the chairman of the dinner and the committee having the same in charge.

Many events are scheduled to take place at the Scottish Rite building during the fall and winter, but it is doubtful if any gathering will prove more popular than the dinners. It is the intention to have just one dinner party before the reunion of the Scottish Rite bodies. This affair will take place October 17, 18 and 19.

AMERICA WONDERS OVER EFFECT OF NEW NAVAL PACT

American naval officials are not sure just what effect the new Franco-British naval pact will have on the interests of the United States on the high seas. It is seen as a forerunner of another armament limitation program which would work seriously to the disadvantage of the United States, Washington naval experts contend. Above is the H. M. S. Rodney, which, with its sister ship, the H. M. S. Nelson, British cruisers, are said to be the two most powerful battleships afloat. Below shows the H. M. S. Berwick, new 10,000-ton British cruiser.

Injuries Are Fatal To Man Found Along Highway

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Sept. 7.—Found along the Patter Heights road by George A. Patterson, a milkman, Harry Wright, 40, of New York, was taken to the Beaver Valley hospital where he died an hour later of a fractured skull and other injuries. Wright regained consciousness long enough to tell the authorities his name and address and that he was en route from New York to Cleveland, O., in search of work. He could not tell how he was hurt.

Police believe the man was either thrown from an automobile or struck by a hit-run driver. Theories of violence and foul play are discarded.

Plan Resumption Of Power Trust Probe For September 13

Federal Trade Commission Will Submit Evidence Collected During Summer

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—The Federal Trade Commission will resume its investigation of the propaganda activities of the Power Trust on Sept. 13, it was announced today.

First business will be the introduction of evidence collected during the summer by Commission representatives.

On Sept. 17 public hearings will be resumed, with witnesses called from New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Louisiana and Iowa.

The Pacific coast states will come under the miscrscope either late in September or early in October.

With this work out of the way, the Commission will turn to the financial phase of the investigation. Questionaires are being sent to all public service corporations and holding companies to ascertain the financial structure of public utilities.

Two Persons Hurt In Pittsburgh As Auto Hits Trolley

Driver Of Machine Is Uninjured And Arrested By Police Following Crash

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 7.—Victoria Martin, 18, of this city, and Sam Shabal, 34, of New Kensington, were seriously injured while the driver of the car in which they were riding escaped unhurt when their automobile crashed into a street car here early today.

Police arrested the driver, George Marvey, 35, who said he was blinded by the trolley's lights as he emerged from Liberty Tubes.

The injured couple were taken to the Presbyterian hospital where their condition was reported by attendants as serious.

Rev. Floyd Childs To Preach Sunday In Emmanuel Church

Rev. Floyd Childs of Crafton, O., a former pastor of the Harmony Baptist church on the Ellwood City road will occupy the pulpit next Sunday at the morning and evening services in the Emmanuel Baptist church of this city.

There will be special music by the choir under the direction of Charles Richards, chorister, with Miss Ellen Jones at the organ.

Juvenile Library To Open Next Week

Children's hours at the juvenile library will be from 11:30 in the morning until 8 o'clock in the evening every day excepting Saturday, states Miss Helen Minick, juvenile librarian at the New Castle public library.

The children's department has been closed for some time during the summer months but will open the first of next week to remain permanently so, stated Miss Minick.

Motorist Is Found Injured On Road

(International News Service)

WILKINSBURG, Pa., Sept. 7.—Found beside his automobile in Frankstown road here, Isadore Back 38, this city, was picked up by passing motorists and rushed to Columbia hospital today. He is suffering from a possible fracture of the skull.

Back's automobile had apparently skidded and struck the pole into which it had crashed, police say.

New Motor Protection

In the clouds and on the roads, today's motors are establishing new performance standards. Acceleration, hitherto undreamed of, is casually accepted. Astonishing power has resulted from high speed, high compression motor designs.

Today's motors, designed for unprecedented speed, naturally demand more efficient lubrication. Oils refined without consideration of these facts cannot give proper protection.

HyVis Motor Oil, super-refined from Pure Pennsylvania Petroleum, expressly to meet modern conditions, offers this protection. HyVis maintains its High VISCOSITY for 1000 miles—and more—protecting the whirling, plunging steel in its cooling, viscous oiliness.

HyVis is aproved by Franklin and every other leading manufacturer whose policy permits the approval of motor oils.

Advisory Board Given Invitation To Assemble Here

City officials, the Chamber of Commerce, The Castleton and the Scottish Rite cathedral have extended an invitation to the Allegheny Regional Advisory board to meet in this city next spring at their annual March meeting. The invitation was extended following the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce at the Elks club.

The Allegheny Regional Advisory board is an organization of shippers and railroad men for the benefit of each. The meetings are round table discussion of problems that rise that are of consequence to both the railroad and the shippers.

The annual December meeting will be held in Pittsburgh as is the custom. The next meeting is to be held at Cumberland, Md., on September 13.

"Dope" Addict Is Believed Slayer Of Young Doctor

Officials Probing Murder of Young Carrick Doctor Find "Dope" Records

NOW SEARCH FOR PRIVATE RECORDS

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 7.—Claiming to have uncovered irregularities in the purchase of dope by Dr. Harry R. Dapper, police and detectives retraced their steps today and started working again on the theory that the youthful Carrick physician was murdered by a "dope" addict.

Information to the effect that the physician purchased large quantities of narcotics during a period of three months prior to his mysterious murder by an unidentified stranger on a lonely road near Bettis field, has been obtained by detectives from a source which they have not made public.

Had Considerable Dope

Morphine, containing 5 and one-half grains, was obtained by Dapper every five days, detectives say. Only a short time before his murder, it was learned, the physician obtained 44 one-fourth grain tablets and shortly after 200 tablets which he secured through special dispensation from federal authorities.

Checking up on this information, detectives claim that Dapper secured the narcotics in a manner which, they say, is contrary to the federal narcotic laws. Several of the perscription blanks are said to have been filled in pencil, which is contrary to the law.

Search for private records of Dr. Dapper has become intensified since the gleaning of this additional information. Detectives believe that these private records could throw much light on the physicians transactions and methods of business.

Although a thorough search has been conducted in the home and office of the murdered doctor, no trace of the records have been found.

PROUDEST BLOCK IN WORLD CLAIMS ALL FOUR WINNERS IN BIG CITY'S BABY SHOW

FRANCES SLAGLE — VIVIAN SCHOEN — JACQUELIN McKENZIE — OLIVE A McKENZIE

The Prides of Baltimore.

By KEEN RAFFERTY
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 1.—Down in the 2300 block of Madison avenue in Baltimore they raise 'em healthy, and there must be something about the neighborhood that in addition presents them with that ineffable quality claimed by all the musical comedy stars—they have personality plus, down there.

The reporter who went to interview the four leading ladies of the 2300 block Madison avenue (an unappreciative fellow with no poetry in his soul) also took their picture.

"I have been given to understand," he said, when the finished picture was in his hands, "that you four young sirens have carried off the honors at the baby show. Is that correct?"

"I believe that is substantially correct," said one of the damosels, Miss Frances Slagle. "But I object to being called a baby. I—"

Such Temperament!

"Now, now," said the reporter, "let there be no quibbling. What I want to know is: is that correct?"

"Yes," said Miss Slagle, pouting.

"Can you identify yourselves in the picture, then?" asked the reporter, and he showed them the finished photograph.

"There can be no doubt—" began Miss Vivian Schoen, but she was interrupted by a despairing wail from Miss Jacquelin McKenzie.

"Oh dear, oh dear," said Miss McKenzie. "My—"

"And no hysterics, either," put in the reporter, and he hurried on to recite the accomplishments of the four fair ones:

"These four children, living almost next door to each other, were among the headliners at the baby show held this week in Druid Hill park—"

"Oh dear, oh dear!" interrupted the distracted Miss McKenzie.

"Frances Slagle lives at 2337 Madison avenue," continued the reporter. "She is three years old and drew 100 per cent from the judges. Vivian Schoen, who lives next door, is two and one-half years old. She received 99 per cent. Jacquelin McKenzie lives at 2331 Madison avenue with her sister, Olive Allen McKenzie. Jacquelin is two and one-half years and was given 100 per cent, and her sister, who is only 14 months old, got a 98 per cent rating.

"And now," concluded the reporter, "I wish to thank you all for your time."

"Oh, dear!" said Miss Jacquelin McKenzie, with one last look at the departing photograph. "My panties are visible!"

Will Soon Remove East Brook Detour

(From News Bureau, State Capital)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 7.—One new detour will be established and two removed in Lawrence county by the State Highway Department during the next two weeks. The detour to be created is between New Castle and East New Castle. It is 2.8 miles in length over improved and earth roads.

Completion of road improvement projects will permit the removal of detours that have been in effect for some time. The two in Lawrence county scheduled to be lifted are between East Brook and Volant and between Wampum and Ellwood. In Butler county the department will remove the detour between Saxonburg and Freeport.

Life, Biology, Immortality

By S. S. MYERS

One is often astonished on finding how much some men know about one particular subject and how little they know along other lines. I once knew a college Professor who had the degree of Ph. D. from one American and two European Universities. He was widely recognized as an authority on all matters pertaining to Philosophy. He was the author of a book on that subject which attracted the attention and favorable comment of scholars throughout the educational world. Yet, when the water pipe in his kitchen froze and bursted, flooding the house, he did not know enough to turn off the water. And when the lock on the front door of his residence failed to function he did not understand how to detach it from the door in order that he might investigate the cause of the trouble.

What is true in one branch of learning is sometimes true in others as recent article by Sir Arthur Keith would indicate. He says: "It is in a material sense only that the Biologist regards man as an immortal being. We survive, if we survive at all only in the lives of our descendants. Mankind will survive as a race as long as the earth is inhabitable, and no longer." That is to say we are only automata in the great web of life—that the warp is set and we have no control over the woof that is woven into it. In other words we are only material, earth-bound beings and all longings, ambitions, hopes and aspirations are vain and useless.

No doubt Sir Arthur Keith is a great biologist and, as a rule, we would be exceedingly cautious about taking issue with him; but, in this case, it seems that he has overlooked some very important biological facts. In the first place biologists, as a class do not entertain the materialistic views expressed by him. They believe that while the laws that prevail in living bodies are infinitely complex, they are not beyond the power of human discovery—that man alone among living things possesses initiative and free will. They do not believe that the cells of a human body having locked up in themselves the secret of life and development do, or can examine and analyze and question and criticize themselves. Only something higher in man can do this, and in man alone is this power found.

Furthermore ,referring to life as a web on the loom, Sir Arthur Keith asserts that, "So far as Biologists can perceive the loom works automatically, the threads spin themselves." According to that man would be a mere automaton. But the free will of mankind knocks that theory into a "cocked hat." We weave into that web what we will—threads of joy, or sorrow, or good will, or love, or sympathy, or hatred or anger—all are woven into the web and we make the pattern ourselves. Whether it represents angels or demons depends on what we weave into it.

Such a belief as that expressed by Sir Arthur Keith would tie up the destiny of the human race with that of the earth and cut us off from the universe at large. But man has reached out beyond the solar system to explore the universe with which he feels that he is related through his intelligence and which has given rise to the idea that he is cosmopolitan in his nature and not a mere creature of earthly mortality.

Professor Service says: "As astronomy has widened man's views of the physical universe, the conception of God has coincidently widened, and, consciously or unconsciously religious belief has pictured the entire cosmos as the limitless home of the "Sons of God." The perishable quality of suns and earths has assumed to be a matter of relative indifference to the imperishable spirit or soul."

Every normal human being has within him an indefinable sense of immortality. He is conscious of a longing desire for things higher and better than the things of this earth and often makes great sacrifices toward that end. In this connection I take the liberty of quoting the last two stanzas of a remarkable poem written by a Professor in the University of Kansas:

"Like a bit of an ocean sea-beach,
Or a moon that is new and thin,
Into our hearts high yearnings
Come welling and surging in—
Come from that mystic ocean
Whose rim no foot hath trod;
Some of us call it longing,
But others call it God.

A picket frozen on duty,
A mother starved from her brood,
Socrates drinking the hemlock
And Jesus on the rood;
And the straight, hard, narrow pathway
That millions of feet have trod,
Some call it consecration,
But others call it God.

Theatrical Strike On Broadway Halted By Compromise Act

Manager's Organization Offers New Proposition To Quiet Grumbling Stagehands

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—A compromise today appeared likely to dispel the theatrical strike clouds gathering over Broadway.

Joseph Magnolia, one of 2,000 stage hands who threaten to walk out tomorrow if wage increases are not granted, said the managers' organization, the International Theatrical association, had submitted a new proposition.

The commitee to which Magnolia belongs and a committee of managers are to discuss the proposal tomorrow.

Until then, at least, the men backstage will stay at their tasks, and theatrical signs will not go dark on Broadway.

If a strike is called every legitimate house in New York would be without stage hands and curtains would have to ring down on shows costing enormous sums.

Electricians who have been offered 80 a week want $100, property men and stage carpenters who have been offered $70 want $90, and "grips" who have been drawing $6 per day want $8.

Business Better At Grove City

GROVE CITY, Pa., Sept. 7.—With the local plant of the Bessemer Engine company on an increased schedule and the prospects of a year's steady business ahead, the first good week's pay in several months was given to the workmen at the plant last Saturday.

Business men of Grove City noticed a decided increase in their business and things in general in this city are taking a turn for the better.

Corporate Taxes In Pennsylvania Decrease In 1927

Decrease In This State Shows Three Per Cent As Against Two Per Cent For Nation

PENNSYLVANIA LEADS IN USE OF CIGARS

By GEORGE H. MANNING
(Washington Correspondent of The News.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 7.—Although individuals and corporations in Pennsylvania still paid approximately 10 per cent of all the income tax receipts of the federal treasury, payments of these taxes in Pennsylvania dropped 3 per cent in the fiscal year 1928 while the decrease in the country as a whole was 2 per cent.

During this fiscal year, which ended June 30, 1928, Pennsylvania corporations paid $126,880,473.73 in taxes on their incomes, and individuals paid $90,057,438.97 in income taxes, while during the fiscal year 1927, corporations in the state paid $133,700,352.08 and individuals paid $89,215,269.65, which would indicate that individuals increased their incomes during the last year while corporations were not so prosperous. This drop in income tax payments by corporations was emphasized by the fact that the corporations paid taxes at the rate of 13½ per cent on their net incomes during the fiscal year 1928, while they paid only 13 per cent during the previous fiscal year.

Third and Fourth Payments.

The receipts for 1928 include payments of the third and fourth installments of the tax on the returns of net income for 1926, and the first and second installments of the tax on the returns of net income for 1927, together with additional collections made for prior years.

The payment of $29,804,771.90 in miscellaneous taxes brought Pennsylvania's total contribution to the federal treasury up to $246,742,684.60 during the fiscal year 1928, as compared with a total of $258,763,804.42 in 1927.

All three Pennsylvania collection districts showed decreases in internal revenue receipts last year, the first Pennsylvania district, with offices at Philadelphia, showing a decrease of 3 per cent; the 12th district, with offices at Scranton, dropping 5 per cent, and the 23rd district, with offices in Pittsburgh, dropping 8 per cent.

The Philadelphia district collected $145,754,057.43 last year as against $149,694,805.79 in the fiscal year 1927. The Scranton district collected $19,240,978.87 in 1928 as against $20,193,526.18 in 1927. The Pittsburgh district collected $81,747,648.30 in 1928 as against $88,875,472.45 in 1927.

Pennsylvania led the country in the payment of cigar taxes, but collection of these taxes dropped from $7,027,090.98 in 1927 to $6,850,640.46 in 1928, and the taxes paid on cigarets manufactured in Pennsylvania dropped from $10,092,839.97 in 1927 to $8,416,436.22 in 1928, despite an increase of more than $22,000,000 in the taxes paid on cigarets in the United States as a whole. On the other hand, the taxes paid on manufactured tobacco and snuff in Pennsylvania increased from $784,577.34 in 1927 to $825,485.72 in 1928.

Tenth in Auto Taxes.

Pennsylvania was tenth in the amount of taxes paid on automobiles and motorcycles, $288,070.75 in these taxes being collected in the fiscal year 1928 as against $655,240.33 in 1927.

Pennsylvania was fourth in the payment of taxes on admissions to theatres and other places of amusement, amusement seekers paying $1,308,927.26 in admissions taxes last year, as against $1,556,998.19.

Increases in the taxes paid on all taxable financial transactions, however, were shown in Pennsylvania in the fiscal year 1928. This year $777,328.08 was collected in stamps on bonds of indebtedness, capital stock issues, etc., and $395,033.72 on capital stock sales or transfers, as against $610,954.26 and $236,920.40 in 1927.

The taxes paid on playing cards manufactured in the state increased from $11,253.70 in 1927 to $20,256.30 in 1928.

A drop of $45,379,340.83 brought the total taxes paid in the United States to $2,174,573,102.89 in the fiscal year 1928. Payments of inheritance taxes dropped from $100,339,851.96 to $60,087,233.91. Receipts from the automobile and motorcycle tax, now abolished, amounted to $51,628,265.96 last year, a decrease of $14,809,615. 36.

Total taxes paid on tobacco manufactures amounted to $396,450,041.03 in 1928, as against $376,170,205.04 in 1927, the taxes collected on small cigarets alone increasing $22,824,026.53 in the fiscal year 1928 as compared with 1927.

The internal revenue receipts of the government during the fiscal year amounted to $2,790,535,537.68, a decrease of $75,147,592.23, according to the report made to the secretary of the treasury today by the commissioner of internal revenue.

Almost Positive Witness In Sewer Probe Murdered

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Three relatives of William A. D'Olier, his wife, a cousin and a brother, Thursday declared that they were positive that the key witness in the Queens sewer investigation was murdered.

The wife, an expantant mother pledged herself to run down her husband's slayers.

The cousin, Ranklin D'Olier, a vice-president of the prudential Insurance company of Newark, and first national commander of the American Legion, asserted that D'Olier was "too game" to take his own life.

Pinchot's Attitude Creates Interest

Former Governor Of Pennsylvania To Go On Stump For Hoover

(From News Bureau, State Capital)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 7.—Now that former Governor Pinchot has announced his intentions of stumping for Herbert Hoover political observers at the Capitol are wondering what, if anything, the Forester expects for declaring his party regularity. The former governor was known far and wide for his independence and his announcement that he plans to take the stump for Hoover is the cause for considerable speculation here.

During the four years that he was governor of Pennsylvania Gifford Pinchot played a lone hand. He fought Secretary A. W. Mellon in that period and the Secretary was largely responsible for Hoover's nomination after Mellon announced that the Pennsylvania delegation was for him.

Pinchot and Hoover have crossed swords over the power question in time spast. These differences are to be forgotten while Pinchot swings through the west and urges the election of Hoover at the polls in November.

What does Pinchot expect for stumping the country for Hoover? That question is asked frequently since the ex-governor came here the other day and announced he would take the stump urging Hoover's election. Many think that he is angling for an appointment in the event the Republican party is successful.

The ex-governor is a forester and conservationist. The man who was head of the department of Forests and Waters while Pinchot was governor is now head of the Federal forestry work. Maj. Robert Stuart, of Carlisle, and Pinchot are warm friends. Perhaps the former governor would be satisfied with the retention of Stuart in the event of Hoover's election and for that reason is willing to take the stump. Stuart could then continue to carry out Pinchot's views on forestry and conservation as he did while in the latter's cabinet here.

Club's Liability To Wives Sought

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—The supreme court was asked today to decide whether clubs are liable for damages to wives for depriving them of the companionship of their husbands and a part of their husband's income.

The case came from McGill, Nev., and was brought by Mrs. Gladys Anderson against the McGill club where she asserted her husband played poker.

She declared in her suit that her husband spent much of his time at the club and lost a large portion of his salary causing her "worry, humiliation, sickness and grievous mental pain." She insisted the club as a public nuisance, was liable to her for damages.

The state courts dismissed the suit holding there was no provision in law warranting action against a club on the grounds. Mrs. Anderson would have the supreme court reverse this decision.

Woman Pays $1.25 Owed Since 1892

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Sept. 7.—Thirty-six years ago Mrs. Harry Shissler operated a millinery store here. She sold a hat to a woman for $1.25 but never collected the debt.

Recently Chief Burgess Shissler received the following note:

"Enclosed you will find $1.25 representing a bill I never paid your mother, as I want to face my Maker owing no one a dollar."

Japanese Suspect Nabbed On Coast

Mountaineer Just Had To Tell Wife He Was Escaped Convict, He Says; Now Faces Life Term

By MATT WEINSTOCK
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 7.—But for his inborn sense of honesty, Will McKenzie, mountaineer and convicted murderer, would not face imprisonment for the rest of his life. He was held in the Los Angeles county jail, awaiting his return to the North Carolina state prison, after 11 years of stolen liberty.

But McKenzie thought it proper to tell his wife after two children were born to them that he had escaped from prison where he was serving a life term for murder.

In his cell McKenzie admitted that his young wife had repeated the story to police and told them where to find him. The chubby mountaineer, who was convicted of killing his brother-in-law 16 years ago, was arrested on his ranch in San Fernando, a suburb of Los Angeles.

Bears No Malice.

"I wondered why Eva did it," he sighed. "It was that last quarrel. All she wanted was a divorce. So she's sendin' me back to a cell for life so she can have it."

But there seems no hatred in the self-confessed murderer's makeup. He killed his brother-in-law, Peter B. Jones, shortly after the death of McKenzie's first wife in Laurinburg, N. C.

"I just had to do it," the soft-spoken mountaineer apologized. "He started gossip about me and how I didn't grieve like I should after Mamie died. I stood it for a while and then he called me up into the mountains to have it out. I shot him—killed him, because he hurt my woman's name.

"They sent me to prison at Raleigh, May 22, 1917, and three days later I went to the road camp. I figured I had it comin' to me, so I took my own leave the same month and headed west.

"I took up with Eva Parkhill and married her in Wichita Falls, Tex., on March 25, 1920. She was young, 18 years younger than I was, but she reminded me a lot of Mamie—and I loved her, too We came out to San Fernando three years ago, me workin' at my carpenter trade."

Twice after he had married Eva Parkhill he faced capture when he returned to his dying father's bedside in Laurinburg His friends refused to report his presence to authorities.

McKenzie bears no grudge against his wife. His greatest concern, in fact, is for her happiness and the welfare of the children, Audrey Dean, age 8, and two-year-old Roberta Irene.

Dear Girls and Boys:—

I wonder how many of you are wide-awake and know just what is going on in the world about you? Grown-ups have what are called "questionnaires" to help them find out just what they do not know, but I believe that many of the questions that are asked can be answered by school kiddies. And so I am giving you a little "questionnaire" all for yourself. If you can answer the following questions, send the answers to Ma Newc, in care of The New Castle News, and all of you who answer the questions correctly will have your names printed in this club section.

1. Who was the first man to fly across the Atlantic ocean in an airplane?
2. Who was the first woman to fly across the Atlantic ocean in an airplane?
3. In a Bible story, what was the name of the man who was saved from the flood by building an ark?
4. What is the name of the story that tells us about a poor girl whose fairy godmother allows her to go to a ball where she loses her little glass slipper?
5. Who freed the slaves in America?
6. Who is called The Father of Our Country?
7. Who discovered America?

Don't forget, I am waiting to see who are the bright boys and girls of our club. Send in your answers before Thursday and look for your name in print, next Friday.

Your friend,

ATTRACTIVE BOOKMARKS

When we are reading, we never should try to keep our place by turning down one of the leaves. This makes a book "dog eared" and it never looks nice again. Instead, a pretty bookmark will easily keep your place and will add, rather than detract, from the appearance of your book.

To make a bookmark, draw a circle about two inches in diameter on a stiff piece of white paper. If you like, you may paint it any light color you have in your paintbox, or you may leave it plain white. Then cut out the circle carefully. Next take a piece of ribbon about six inches long and paste one end to the middle of the circle. If you have any old magazines, look through the colored advertisements and cut out either a little picture of a book, or a flower, or a bird, or an animal. Mount it over the end of the ribbon that is pasted to the circle, and your bookmark is completed.

I would make quite a few of these bookmarks if I were you, as you will want one for each of your books. A pretty little picture to mount on the circle is the yellow baby chick which is found in some advertisements in magazines.

BOOKS EVERY CHILD SHOULD READ

"Heide," by Johanna Spyri, is the story of a little Swiss orphan girl living with an aunt who thinks it a great deal of trouble to care for the merry-hearted child. Finally the aunt refuses to care for Heide any longer and sends her high up in the mountains to the home of her grandfather. He is a cross, crabbed old man but Heide's gayety soon wins him over and he becomes one of the jolliest playfellows she has ever had. Then something happens which sends Heide to a big city and new friends. Here she becomes so lonesome and homesick that a kind-hearted doctor sends her back to her beloved mountains and her dear grandfather. However, she was the cause of a great happiness that came to a little lame girl and thus the book ends happily and is a great favorite with children

POEMS EVERY CHILD SHOULD READ

My Sore Thumb.

By Burges Johnson.

I jabbed a jack knife in my thumb,
The blood just spurted when it come
The cook got faint, an' nurse she yelled
An' showed me how it should be held
An' gran'ma went to get a rag,
An' couldn't find one in the bag;
An' all the rest was just struck dumb
To see my thumb.

Since I went an' jabbed my thumb
I go around a-lookin' glum,
And aunt, she pats me on the head
An' gives me extra ginger-bread;
But brother's mad, an' says, "He'll go
An' take an axe, an' chop his toe;
An' then he guesses I'll keep mum
About my thumb."

At school they as't to see my thumb,
But I just showed it to my chum,
An' any else that wants to see,
Must divey up their cake with me,
It's gettin' well so fast, I think
I'll fix it up with crimson ink,
An' that'll keep up int'rest some

A DELICIOUS TOFFEE RECIPE

2 cups of dark syrup.
1 cup of sugar.
1 teaspoon of butter.
2 tablespoons of vinegar.

Boil together until a few drops will turn brittle in a glass of cold water. Remove from fire and if you wish, beat nuts or cocoanut into it. Pour into buttered pans and let cool. When hard, break it into small irregular pieces.

Suggestion: When poured into buttered muffin tins, the candy will cool in the shape of little patties.

THE ADVENTURES OF JIMMY AND JAMMY

A bedtime story for very young children.

One day Jimmy and Jammy's mamma said to Jimmy and Jammy's papa, "John, the children have been so good this week that I think they deserve a surprise, don't you?" Now when Jammy heard her mother say this to her daddy, her two brown eyes opened wide and her little pink mouth opened wider and "Oh, goody-goody," she cried. Jimmy, her twin brother, jumped up and down with joy and was very glad that he had done what his father and mother had told him all week. (You remember I told you last week that Jimmy, whose real name was James Fenimore Smith, and Jammy, whose real name was Jemima Ann Smith, lived in a big white house on the top of a hill and were very good little children who always helped their parents.)

"Well," Mr. Smith looked at his wife and then at his kiddies and said with twinkling eyes, "I wonder if there are any little boys or girls in this house who want to go to the circus with me."

"I do, I do!" both children shouted at once and danced away to get ready when daddy told them they might go. Jammy wore her new dress with the pink rosebuds scattered all over it, and on top of her brown curls there perched a big blowy pink ribbon that matched her dress. Jimmy wore his white sailor suit with the blue collar, and his long white trousers which made him feel almost as big as daddy.

Bye-and-bye it was time to go and mother and daddy and Jimmy and Jammy drove away in the Purple Pup (that is what they called their automobile). When they reached the circus grounds, all they could see was a big white tent, but when they got inside the tent it seemed they hadn't eyes enough for everything. Jammy fed peanuts to a huge animal who seemed to have two tails, one on each end of him. Daddy said that the animal was an e-le-phant and what Jammy thought was a tail was really a "trunk" with which the e-le-phant carried his food to his mouth. Then they saw a camel with a hump in his back, a dancing monkey who begged for pennies, a tiny pony and a striped horse whose name was Mr. Zebra.

After they had seen other wild animals in their cages, the family entered another tent where the big show was to take place. First of all came the clowns, and how Jimmy and Jammy laughed at their funny tricks! One clown in particular made them laugh when he threw a straw hat at them, and just as it was about to touch them, drew it back with the help of a string which could hardly be seen.

Next, several pretty ladies in spangled dresses came out and began swinging on the big swings called tra-pe-zes. They swung so high that their feet 'most touched the top of the tent, and Jimmy wished that he might swing so high on the swing that daddy had made under the big tree at home.

After the smiling ladies had finished their act, a big black bear danced holding his paws high in the air. When he had finished, everyone clapped their hands in delight, and the bear who seemed pleased with himself, clapped his paws. Of course, this made Jimmy and Jammy laugh!

The last thing on the program was a race between four beautiful horses. Jammy hoped that the white one would win while Jimmy was sure of the brown one. However, it happened that the race was won by a big strong black horse whose name was Lightning.

After the circus was over two sleepy little kiddies were taken home and put into their soft white beds to dream of the circus. And I'm sure that you are sleepy too, so goodnight, little folks, pleasant dreams!

Captain MacIntosh Weds Leila Emery In Quiet Ceremony

Former Husband Of Constance Talmadge Weds American Heiress In Paris Today

(International News Service)

PARIS, Sept. 7.—Just as Constance Talmadge, American film actress, was arriving from New York on the boat train today, her former husband, Capt. Allastair MacIntosh, was being married to Miss Leila Emery, American heiress and the daughter of the Hon. Mrs. Alfred Anson.

The ceremony took place in the City hall of the Seventh Adrondissement in the presence of a few friends and relatives, following a reception at the home of Mrs. Anson, which was attended by 60 guests.

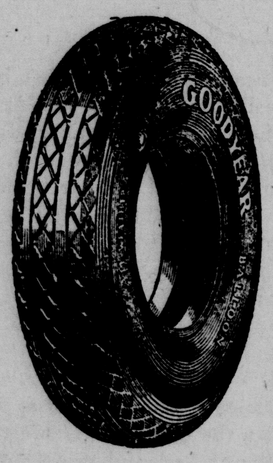

The wedding witnesses included Rodman Wanamaker and the bride's sister, Princess Ilynski and her husband, the Grand Duke Dmitri, of Russia.

Mrs. MacIntosh wore a cream colored gown and carried a huge boquet or orchids. There will be a church wedding to supplement the civil rites, but the date was not announced.

This match was called the outcome of a romance of the Scottish Moors. Eight years ago Col. H. H. Rogers, of the Standard Oil company, father of the Scottish guardsmen, to Miss Emery at a house party at his Scottish shooting lodge. The friendship begun at this time lapsed, but flared up into affection when they met after years of seperation.

Mrs. MacIntosh's sister, Audrey, married the Grand Duke Dmitri, of Russia, after she had been ardently wooed by Michael Arlen, the novelist.

Philadelphia Has Been Alcohol Bed, Monaghan Declares

District Attorney In Philadelphia Says City Has Supplied Nation's Racketeers

Reveals Thousands Of Gallons Of Alcohol Diverted Into Beverages Channels

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7.—Philadelphia has supplied the nations racketeers with vast amounts of alcohol.

The contraband removed from warehouses under government permit allowing its use for manufacture of perfume and medicine was diverted and distributed to all parts of the country.

One distillery here distributed 350,000 gallons of alcohol during the past year.

These disclosures were made today by District Attorney John Monaghan as the grand jury resumed its inquiry into Philadelphia's underworld.

To Examine Records.

A trick system was used for diverting the alcohol, Monaghan explained, a fake formula being used in denaturing the product in a government denaturing plant. The alcohol then was taken to another warehouse where injection of a chemical compound removed the denaturant completely. The alcohol, it was stated, had been registered as sold in various barber supply and perfume plants here, but instead reaches the sales market of a bootlegging syndicate, which disposed of it for beverage purposes.

The jury will examine records seized in the offices of the Penn Sales & Appraisal company today. The district attorney believes that Max "Boo Boo" Hoff, millionaire sportsman, is interested in this concern. Hoff has been questioned daily since the probe's inception and has been branded "king of the bootleggers" by Monaghan. He was indirectly linked to the gang shootings yesterday when a military stores proprietor confessed he sold Hoff three machine guns and half a dozen bullet proof vests.

Pittsburgh Ready To Let Contracts For Big Airport

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 7.—With the site on the Lebanon church road for the proposed county airport approved by the county planning commission, and a recommendation submitted to the county commissioners for the adoption of the project, preparations were made today for the advertising and awarding of contracts.

It is expected that the commissioners will advertise and award contracts for the proposed airport within a short time. Specifications will probably be issued soon and work started. A total of $2,000,000 will be on hand for the airport, $1,500,000 being available from the recently voted county bond issue and $500,000 from the city.

Examinations For Insurance Agents Planned In State

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 7.—Persons who desire to sell health and accident insurance and do not have a license for one of the other forms, will be required to take a special examination after October 1, Matthew H. Taggart, the state insurance commissioner announced today.

Examinations for such agents will be at the same places and times as those fixed for casualty insurance.

Agents qualified or who become qualified for life, including health and accident or for casualty insurance, need not take the health and accident examinations. Those who take only the health and accident examinations will receive a license limited to write that class.

Pittsburgh Probe Into Liquor Ring To Be Continued

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 7.—Subpenas are being prepared to bring 200 persons before the special federal grand jury which reconvenes here next Monday to continue its investigation into the alleged illegal liquor ring said to be operating in the city with the collusion of prominent public officials, it was learned at the federal offices today.

The grand jury has already indicted 167 persons, one of whom, Al Forney, alleged slot machine concessionaire pleaded guilty at his trial and was sentenced to six months in jail and fined $3,000. Forney is said to have detailed the operations of the gang, in return for a lenient sentence.

Each Film Star Has Favorite "Tear Jerker"

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Sept. 7—When Tobani composed "Hearts and Flowers" little did he dream that he'd written what was destined in later years the champion "tear jerker" of the movie stars.

A "tear jerker" is studio parlance for music that will inspire tears for sad scenes in a film play.

Each star has her own favorite "crying music" or "tear jerker", but of them all, according to a survey of "inspiration music" made at one of the big studios, "Hearts and Flowers" scores the even hundred.

Every feminine player listening to her favorite crying music always adds "or 'Hearts and Flowers'" to her listed preference. It is a general inspiration to tears.

Lon Chaney admits it can make him cry.

"I believe it because the tune has been used so many years on the stage for sad scenes and that it has this universal appeal for lachrymous scenes," he said, "or else that the old stage producers picked it as the one tune best suited psychologically to inspire the most general woe. Anyway, as on the stage, it reigns on the screen today as the one sure fire piece of crying aid."

Marceline Day can cry most easily when "Rock A Bye Baby" is played—in fact the musicians sometimes play it for fun just to make her cry. Failing this—"Hearts and Flowers" is her next big bet.

Renee Adoree likes "Melody in F", by Rubenstein, for her weeping moment—but again, can do a good job on the Tobani classic.

Norma Shearer finds "Traumerie" the best incentive to lachrymal precipitation, with "Hearts and Flowers" a runner-up.

Joan Crawford places "Macushla" first as a crying aid.

Incidentally, "Macushla" is Herbert Brennon's favorite music while working out a sad scene. But he, too, weeps for "Hearts and Flowers".

"Let the Rest of the World Go By," "Mother Machree," "The Berceuse from Jocelyn" and "Swanee River" are other highly esteemed "tear jerkers" used on sets by the "inspirational" orchestras.

The eyes have it. Smart chappeaux worn by screen stars and players this year are designed so that the eyes are conspicuous.

Renee Adoree has selected a hat of beige chouquette with a draped crown and no brim at all. The line of the model follows the eyebrows so that the eyes themselves are revealed. This is by far the most popular type. The turned down brims are used only for special occasions.

The popular line for the evening decolletage has been reversed in Hollywood this year. Greta Garbo has introduced the fad of wearing her evening gowns high in the back and low in the front. The neck line may be either in a V or U in front, but the back is completely covered by material.

Miss Garbo has chosen a black chiffon velvet model studded in crystals to carry out the new vogue.

The normal waist line makes its appearance in the day time and evening mode.

Such stars and players as Aileen Pringle, Marceline Day, Joan Crawford and Eleanor Boardman are having all their frocks, with the exception of sports clothes, designed with the natural waistline paramount.

Golf Course Bills Given Approval

Council Takes Final Action On Two Measures Providing For Course

New Castle's municipal golf course came two steps nearer today when council in legislative session at the city hall passed two ordinances, one providing for the conversion of the "poor" farm into a playground and the other for the condemnation and purchase of 30 acres of land owned by Conrad Emrick. The ordinances will beome laws within 10 days.

Ordinance 60 designates as a park, playground and recreational center all of the land owned by the city in Shenango township and occupied as a city poor farm, except so much thereof as is necessary for the maintenance of the emergency hospital built thereon.

Ordinance 61 provides for the purchase, acquisition, entering upon, taking, use and appropriation by the city, for the purpose of making, enlarging, extending and maintaining certain public parks, parkways and playgrounds of the city in Shenango township of about 30 acres of land of which Conrad Emrick is the owner.

It is said the 30 acres will cost the city $6,000. Golf enthusiasts recently paid down the option price of $1,000. Membership subscriptions will pay for the development of the 18-hole course and within a period of three years it is anticipated that the golf links will not only be self-sustaining but reap a return.

Gland Extract, Selling At $140,000 An Ounce, Is Expensive To Analyze

EVANSTON, Ill., Sept. 7.—Recent commercial production of hormone or gland-extract drugs at values over $100,000 an ounce has raised a serious financial problem in chemical analysis, according to Dr. R. T. K. Cornwell of the University of Pittsburgh in an address at the Institute of Chemistry of the American Chemical society here, Science Service reports. One of these drugs, extracted only from animal organs, commands the price of $5,000 per gram—over $140,000 per ounce—for as large a quantity as the manufacturer can turn out. To make a single accurate chemical analysis, without check duplicate of this drug, ordinarily requires a two-tenths gram sample, worth $1,000. A thorough analytical investigation of the whole process of manufacture would cost an ordinary fortune.

Drugs of this type, such as thyroxin, are obtained from the glands of slaughtered animals in minute quantities at great expense. Usually there is no other natural source. Accordingly it is of critical importance that exhaustive analysis be made of the material so that chemists may solve the architectural design of the drug molecule. Only then can the substance be prepared synthetically with hope of economies.

In the meantime it is only by dissolving the drug in a relatively large portion of water that a quantity of reasonable price may even be measured out commercially. Fortunately such drugs are so potent that extremely dilute solutions are effective.

Micro-analysis, a new chemical art recently imported from Austria by Dr. Cornwell and a very few other Americans, permits an accurate chemical analysis to be run on two milligrams, or about one fourteen-thousandth of an ounce, of material. In the case of the $5,000 drug the cost of material for analysis is cut to $10. In order to handle such minute samples of chemicals, chemical balances, now available, must be sensitive to one thirty-millionth of an ounce.

The micro-methods, which are expected to speed up research in physiological chemistry greatly, are the creation of Prof. Fritz Pregl of Graz, Austria. Prof. Pregl received a recent Noble prize for this work.

Swansea Avenue Paving Measure Passes Council

Action On East Brook Road Sewer Project Is Delayed To Monday

Council today adopted an ordinance which provides for the paving of Swansea avenue between Ashland avenue and Cedar street, but postponed action on the bill which would result in the construction of a sanitary sewer in East Brook road until Councilman Tyler had had an opportunity to fully study the situation there and Solicitor White can attend council when the bill is read for the final time.

Councilman Tyler wanted to know if the sewer to be built would take care of both sides of East Brook road, within the city limits. He feared, he said, that if this was not established now another sewer might have to be built later. Solicitor White, busy in court, will explain the ordinance on Monday morning.

Council Votes To Widen Chestnut Way; Traffic Relief

Five Street Ordinances Passed On First And Final Reading At Meeting

Poles To Be Removed From Lawrence Avenue In 1931 And Placed In Alley

ELLWOOD CITY Sept. 7.—At the regular monthly meeting of the Ellwood City borough council which took place last evening in the city hall a feature of the business was an ordinance drawn up and passed to provide for the widening of Chestnut Way from Sixth street to Eighth street. This alley which runs parellel to Lawrence avenue behind the First National bank and all stores on that side of the street, is much narrower from Sixth street than from Fifth street. The idea of the council in widening it is to relieve traffic conditions on Lawrence avenue and probably provide more parking space.

In discussing the project it was brought to light that in 1931 the telegraph poles are to be removed from Lawrence avenue and placed on the nearby alleys, adding much to the beauty of the street. Chestnut Way will be widened eight feet and property will be condemned on the south side of the alley the borough furnishing a bond for damages .The additional eight feet are necessary to make the width correspond with the rest of the alley.

Ordinances .

Another feature of the meeting was that five street ordinances were passed on first and final reading by suspension of rules so as to get the work completed before cold weather.

An ordinance providing for a sanitary sewer on Bluff avenue from Bridge street to North street, assessing the property owners, the sewer to connect with the sewer on Hazen avenue.

To establish a center grade line on an unnamed alley parallel with Hazen and Orchard avenues.

Establish a center grade line on Rosanna street from Summit to Knoll street.

Establishing a sanitary sewer on Bluff street from Bridge street to North street, assessing costs on the property owners.

Petitions.

Property owners of Bridge street asked for the paving of Orchard avenue to the Borough line. This was an additional petition to the one filed on March 8. This was referred to the borough manager and street committee for a report back to council.

Residents and property owners petitioned for a street light to be placed on Line avenue at the corner of Line and Gum streets. Referred to the electric light committee and the borough manager.

Property owners of Fifth street in the vicinity of the subway petitioned council to enlarge the sanitary sewer underneath the subway to prevent the water from backing up over the sidewalks during a storm and damaging their property. This matter was referred to the borough manager and the sewer committee.

Property owners of Summit avenue sent in another petition asking that section of Summit avenue and South Second street be paved under the usual plan. A former ordinance had been drawn for the conditioning of the street which was amended last night by a unanimous vote of the members to include paving.

Recommendations.

Members of the street committee recommended that they decided to award damages to Mr. Haswell on property to the amount of $500 which would be paid him after his property had been raised to street level.

Rotarians Enjoy Corn Roast At The Jackson Farm

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 7.—Thirty-five members of the Rotary club enjoyed a corn roast Thursday evening as the guests of Fred Jackson of Jackson Stop.

On account of the inclement weather the menu was served indoors. The evening was spent in telling stories, with fish stories barred.

During the serving of the menu, Mrs. Fred Jackson, her daughters and members of the Presbyterian church were in charge.

Ladies Enjoy Fall Card Party At Club

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 7.—The regular ladies' day at the Ellwood Country club took place Thursday afternoon with an enjoyable card party.

Several tables were in play and a roaring fire in the fireplace made a cheerful glow for the afternoon's activities. At the conclusion of play, high score honors went to Mrs. J. M Stoughton and Mrs. W. R. Johnston. They were permitted to select their gifts from a group of lovely things displayed.

Later delicious fall weather refreshments were served by the committee, concluding an enjoyable afternoon.

Members of the committee of the day were Mrs. George Moyer, chairman, assisted by Mesdames J. S. Miller, J. F. Moltrup, F. E. Moore, J. W. Moorhead, Gail Morrison, H. J. Myers, H. F. McAnlis, M. W. McCandless, O. J. McCarty and H. E. McClymonds.

Glasser To Lead Meeting Sunday

Clarence Glasser will lead the Young People's meeting in the Harmony Baptist church, paved highway to Ellwood City next Sunday night.

The topic for the evening is based upon words recorded in Nehemiah 8:1-8, "all the people gathered together as one man—and Ezra brought the law before both men and women and all that could hear with understanding— and read therein from the morning to midday—distinctly and gave the sense and caused them to understand."

MISSIONARY PLAY

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 7.—"The Color Line," a one-act play of present day China, will be presneted at the Wurtemburg U. P. church on Sabbath evening, Sept. 9, by the following cast of characters:

Two Million Loss In San Francisco As Big Pier Burns

Three Are Missing, Three Injured, As Flames Destroy New Pier Under Construction

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—Three men were missing today, believed to have perished, three others were injured and pier 45, just nearing completion, was a mass of ruins, the result of an explosion and fire last night. Property damage is estimated at $2,000,000.

Those missing and believed dead are Harry Sowers, "Shorty" Johnson and Andy Anderson.

The fire started when a tar cauldron exploded after coming in contact with water. The flaming tar was thrown on the pier and the fire soon enveloped the structure.

The three missing men were working on a barge near the pier when the explosion occurred.

Powell Weston, one of the injured men, was thrown into the bay by the explosion. Although painfully burned he was able to swim the length of the pier and was pulled to safety.

Florence Knapp Not To Request Another Trial

Convicted Former Woman State Secretary Of New York Will Serve 30-Day Sentence

(International News Service)

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 7.—Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, former secretary of state, who is serving a 30-day sentence in the Albany county jail for theft of census money, today definitely decided not to appeal for a new trial.

Upon the completion of her sentence Mrs. Knapp will go to the home of relatives at Bedford, Mass.

Because of her extremely nervous condition, Mrs. Knapp has not been placed in a cell. She may serve all of her sentence in the jail infirmary, Sheriff Joseph Henchey said.

It was largely because of the condition of Mrs. Knapp's health that a decision was reached not to press the fight for a new trial, her lawyers announced.

Report Attempt To Enter Store

An attempt was made during the night according to the report made to the police to break into the John C. Wajert drug store at 16 West Long avenue but it was unsuccessful and the thieves secured nothing for their efforts.

They first attempted to get into the store by cutting the glass of a side window. This proving unsuccessful they then gained an entrance into the heater room of the basement of the store. Here they attempted to again force their way through a door between the heater room and the main cellar and were unsuccessful.

The police are investigating.

Woman Injured In Leap From Machine

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH Pa., Sept. 7.—Leaping from an automobile on the Point bridge here early today when the two young men with whom she was riding refused to stop and permit her to get out Laura Davis 28 suffered sever lacerations of the head and face. She was then placed in the car and taken to the Allegheny hospital, she is reported telling police.

The woman and her two alleged companions, Patrick Sampson, 20, and John W. Horne 20, cab drivers who were later arrested on suspicious person charges were to be given a hearing in morals court today.

A motorist who witnessed the leap on the bridge reported it to police who traced the men through the license number. The Davis woman said she knew the men and entered the car.

Rev. J. Ralph Neale Home From Study And Tour Abroad

New Wilmington Pastor Member Of Unique Touring Party In Europe

Hears Noted Speakers, Impressed With Germany's Efforts To "Come-Back"

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Sept. 7.—After a European tour which extended over a two-month period, the Rev. J. Ralph Neale, pastor of the local United Presbyterian church, returned here Wednesday morning. Rev. Neale landed in New York City Monday and spent a day there with friends before he came on to the college town.

The party of which Rev. Neale was a member on the overseas trip was composed of business men, newspaper men and men and women of all other lines of commercial or professional work who were interested in the creation of international understanding. The idea originated by Sherwood Eddy is known as the American Institute of International Affairs and this particular party set sail from New York June 23 on the Majestic steamship of the White Star line.

Along with the seminar party, Rev. Neale landed in Southampton on June 29 and took the motor bus or "charabanc" to Salisbury, where he met Sinclair Lewis. Traveling on through Windsor and past Eaton College, the tourists arrived in London on June 30 and spent three weeks in that great English city, where they enjoyed lectures delivered by some of the greatest men in England.

Hear Famous Men

Among the men who addressed Rev. Neale's party in London were Stanley Baldwin, Ramsey McDonald, Arthur Greenwood, Bernard Shaw, Viscount Astor, Norman Angell, Arthur Henderson, Wickhem Steed, B. S. Roundtree, H. J. Lasky and Dean Inge. The seminar was received by Lady Astor at a tea, where they met George Bernard Shaw; on July 9 they were guests at a reception given by Ramsey McDonald; on July 13 the Archbishop of Canterbury received the party, and on July 13 Stanley Baldwin, prime minister of Great Britain, received Rev. Neale and the other American travelers.

Leaving England July 19, the American party went to Holland where they spent two days seeing the points of interest. What interested Rev. Neale most in Holland was the Hague peace court, which was in session at the time the local man visited it.

Following their visit to Holland the party went to Berlin, where again listened to some of the great European lecturers and statesmen. Rev. Neale was especially interested by his glimpse of conditions in Germany, and he says that, despite almost insurmountable treaty obstacles the German people are making headway, most of which is evidenced in their strong diplomatic corps.

In his description of the experiences of the party at Berlin Rev. Neale spoke enthusiastically of a trip to the Pottsdam and Sans Souci palaces, which are now being kept up as museums. The local pastor says that in his opinion the Sans Souci palace easily rivals the Versailles palace in beauty and grandeur.

In Czecho-Slovakia

From Berlin the party went to Dresden, where they visited the art gallery, and then continued on to Prague. Here they held a service in the church of St. Martins in the Wall, one of their own number preaching. In Czecho-Slovakia the American party visited President Massaryk, who is known as one of the most brilliant of European statesmen.

The party next journeyed to Austria, where they spent three days in Vienna. Here they were given a slant on the condition of Austria by a remark of one of the Austrians, who said that Austria was a tadpole of which Vienna was the head. Rev. Neale reports Vienna to be the Sad City of Europe. Dr. Frederick Hertz spoke to the party there.

At Switzerland, the next country visited, Rev. Neale tried mountain climbing and worked his way to the top of Mount Pilatus, near Lucerne. The party then went to the Interlocken and in the course of the weeks' stay there visited the Eiger glacier.

The next place visited by the American travelers was Geneva, where they attended the Institute of International Relations. Then, in journeying on to Paris they heard William Lyon Phelps speak in the American church in Paris. Three other prominent European figures who also lectured to the tourists in Paris were Stephen Lucon, Andre Reipert and Sisily Huddleston.

Rev. Neale sailed from Cherbourg August 25 and arrived in New York on Labor Day. He says that the thing that impressed him most on the whole trip was the determination of the German people to climb back into a place of repute in the affairs of the world; that knowing they cannot become a military power, they are fast becoming a diplomatic power, having practically won over England to their side and now trying to win over America.

In commenting on the European opinions on the coming United States Presidential election, Rev Neale says that most of the Europeans are frankly hoping that Hoover will win, although there is a weclass in France that look toward Smith. However, the New Wilmington pastor says that England is out-and-out pulling for Hoover in the election.

Sends Pencil Supply To Hotel Waitress

Patron Of The Castleton Sympathizes With Girl When Pencil Breaks Repeatedly

The other evening Miss Gladys Van Eman, a waitress in the Castleton Coffee shop, was figuring up a man's bill and three times the point broke on the pencil she was using. The customer was very sympathetic, but having no pencil he could not aid in the situation.

Today, a letter came for the young lady and with it three pencils. In the letter she read:

"My dear young lady.

Here's hoping that these pencils will be as good as your Castleton coffee, and that they will not break as easily as the others."

The man's name was not given as he is living in a part of this territory where his wife might get the news of it, which of course might result in the breaking of a few good points in the domestic happiness of the kind hearted salesman!

Man Spends 28 Years On Trip Around World

NEW YORK Sept. 7.—Joseph Frank Mikulec 50 years old a native of Croatia who started from that country 28 years ago on a trip around the world to collect autographs of various notables is in New York. He has with him a volume containing more than thirty thousand signatures and weighing 55 pounds.

The book contains the autographs of a number of European rulers, the signature of nine presidents as well as the names or many famous in art, literature, politics, science, religion and business. The volume is the third since he started to collect the autographs.

The autograph book is so large and heavy that Mikulec uses a specially constructed small carriage with which to wheel it around. The vehicle is left in the hallways of the building in which Mikulec enters for his signatures and the volume is then carried on his shoulder.

The signature of President Coolidge and all the members of his cabinet are included in the book exhibited by Mikulec. He says that although he has traveled hundreds of thousands of miles he will continue on his quest to obtain additional autographs to add to his collection.

Solomon's Barns Found In Ruins

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.— Discovery of the famous horse stables of Solomon during the excavations of the ruins at Armageddon, Palestine, recently anounced by the Oriental institute of the University of Chicago is described in a full report to the university by P. L. O. Guy field director of the institute's Megiddo expedition.

The 3,000-year-old stables on the town site of the great battle city of Armageddon north of Jerusalem and about ten miles inland from the Mediterranean sea cover half an acre.

"Solomon laid out his stables very systematically" says the report, "the stalls being arranged in double rows, the horses about 12 to the row stood facing each other with a passage between the two rows of heads for the grooms and feeders. In front of each horse was a manger and the rows of mangers were divided by massive stone hitching posts which still contain the original tie holes for the insertion of the halter ropes."

Hollywood Cosmetician en route to New York

Miss Mae Davies, when interviewed, said that $12.00 a year was enough to spend for the proper cosmetics and it was no longer a secret how to keep your face powder on all day. Miss Mae Davies herself and all her screen star friends use and sincerely recommend Finesse Foundation Cream. It is a protective film cream which makes your skin velvety and fine, and keeps your face powder on all day. Parents Need Vacations As Well As Children

"In the great desire of officials to protect the health welfare of the child, that of the parents is sometimes overlooked. And nothing emphasizes this fact more than the general solicitation that everyone has for the children's vacation," said Dr. Theodore B. Appel, state Secretary of Health, today.

"However much the youngsters require wholesome recreation and change during the vacation period, grown-ups must realize that they too are in the need of diversion and rest. Recently, a man who has steadily worked for two years, bought a ticket for Europe and gave it to his twenty-four year old daughter to use. Father continues at his desk!

"Now the motive in this particular case was perfectly fine, but those parnest who 'live for their children' in some instances would be better off, and in the end would do much more for their children, if they would live a little for themselves.

"Sacrifice is a parental instinct. However, when it is carried to the point of depriving one of a needed rest in order that the young people in the family may get it all, then such sacrifice is no longer logical or sensible.

"Older people owe it to themselves to get away from the daily grind of office, factory or house work. And quite as much as the children are apt to need rest, fresh air and a severance from exacting routine.

"Therefore, if you are among the hundreds of parents, who during the past summer have deprived themselves of a vacation in order that the older children might have one, consider this question carefully. If necessary, make a little more sacrifice and take a vacation yourself. The chances are that you need one for your own sake, for your children's sake and your health's sake.

"With the best vacation days of the year yet to come, plan now to get your due."

Junior High School System Differs From High School Plan Explains Dr. Green

There is an unfortunate tendency on the part of all to emphasize the "high school" in "junior high school" and to forget about the word "junior" says Dr. C. C. Green superintendent of the city schools.

People wonder why athletics are slightly different in the junior high schools of the city from the senior high school. No long trips are permitted and the athletics are intra-school but no games are permitted with schools other than those of the city system.

"The theory of the junior high school" states Dr. Green, 'was to have a kind of education that would be more suitable for the adolescent child than the training offered in the high schools. Many persons are confused with what the term junior high school really means.

"The physical, emotional and mental state of the adolescent child are not as of the older pupil or the adult. Every one knows that the emotions, the physical awkwardness, the moral unsettledness of the adolescent do need special treatment.

'The main point in the minds of most concerns the junior high school athletics. One must remember that the adolescent is no longer a mere child but yet he is not an adult and muct be treated with special care.

"If the characteristics of the high school are placed into the junior high" states Dr. Green, "the very purpose is defeated for which the junior high school was created.

"Junior high schools are not high schools. They have a very misleading name. They are a special school for adolescents which are based on entirely different principles of education."

New Castle Boys Highly Praised

ARMY OFFICIAL CITES GOOD WORK

Once more representatives of the Senior High school band and orchestra have added further laurels to New Castle's shining crown of music! This time not as organization, but as individuals.

In a letter to The News this morning, LaVerne E. Irvine, whose resignation from the position of director of music in the Senior and Junior High schools of this city was just recently accepted, and who is leaving to become associated with the department of music at the West Chester State Teachers' college, passes on the words of commendation for the showing of the New Castle boys in the music contingent of Citizen Military Training Camp recruits at Fort Washington, Md., this past summer.

The letter comes from Capt, J. Monroe Stick, who is executive secretary of the third corps area of the Military Training Camps association of the United States, and whose position brings him in personal contract with the boys.

Mr. Irvine continues that Capt. Stick praises very highly the work of our New Castle boys who played in the C. M. T. C. band during the past summer at the Ft. Washington camp. The government officer says in his letter that the work of the local boys was outstanding and even mentions the good points of each one individually.

Capt. Stick hopes to visit New Castle this fall and probably renew his acquaintances with the boys. Those who played in the band were Phillip Winter, Joe McGaffic, Russell Johnston, Fred Blaha and John Dobelak. The first three were members of both the band and the senior orchestra last year; Fred Blaha was a member of last year's band and John Dobelak was a member of last year's senior orchestra. All of these boys were in the Northwestern Pennsylvania Inter-school Musical contest at Grove City last year.

In view of the fact that the high army official mentions the names of the above boys in the letter, it is a mighty strong proof of the rapidly gaining fame that the local high school's musical organizations and the members that compose them are bringing to New Castle.

Two brothers, Adolph and George Fassnacht, live in real life the parts they play in the "Passion Play," drama of the Bible. Adolph, above, plays the role of Jesus in the play and spends most of his time off the stage in religious work. George, below, takes the part of Judas, the betrayer, and is said to be a typical man of the world.

Parochial Schools Open

Nearly 1,000 Pupils Attending Classes In Three Schools

ALL FUNCTIONING IN FINE SHAPE

A majority of the parochial schools of the city got under way this week and are functioning in excellent shape and have every indication of a successful school term.

St. Mary's parish school started on Wednesday morning and the enrollment is now 400 and still increasing as additional pupils enroll. The organization of the school for the term has been perfected and everything is going in excellent shape.

St. Joseph's parish school started on Tuesday of this week and is also now functioning with almost mid-term efficiency. The enrollment is 150 and still increasing. Eight grades are being taught in the school this term.

Saints Philip and James parish school opened on Tuesday of this week and organization for the term has been perfected. The enrollment today was 316 and is still increasing.

St. Vitus parochial school will not open until after the middle of the present month it was announced today. It will open shortly after the return of Fr. N. DeMita the pastor who has been spending several months in Italy.

Reception Given For Degree Team

New Castle Circle P. H. C. Honors Knickerbocker Team On Thursday Night

With the social activities for the fall and winter season fairly launched in New Castle Circle No. 5, P. H. C., the complimentary reception and open meeting as a courtesy to the Knickerbocker degree staff of the circle was a splendid event of Thursday night.

Promptly at 7:30 President Jessie Richeal called the circle to order for business and the class initiation with the team in charge. At 9 o'clock the doors of the circle chamber were opened to the public when a large attendance enjoyed a delightful program.

With Guardian Helen Ray presiding and opening the program, the degree staff in their attractive new uniforms put on their prize drill. Showers of applause greeted the famous team for their excellent work. Master Lew Badger with his sister Doris are favorites in the circle and their vocal numbers made a big hit.

The solo work of Pianist Catharine Badgers and her sister, Mrs. John Evans, is always a treat, but when these Welsh nightingales blend their wonderful voices together it is doubly so.

The readings afforded by Mrs. Will Powers was one of the best numbers on the program and her humorous readings were thoroughly enjoyed.

Supreme Auditor Dr. R. G. Baird of Sharon and District Deputy A Blanche Canfield added to the program and later lunch was served by the guardian and her committee, followed wtih a social hour and dancing.

Now in progress is a corn roast and dance to be held at a later date to be announced.

With the guardian the event will be in charge of the circle boosters and degree team. Watch our smoke.

LILLIE B. JONES, Sec'y.

Plan To Send Daily Messages To Local Fliers

Arrangements Made To Send Encouragement To New Castle Racers

Telegrams will be sent to the "Tin City Rocket", New Castle's entry in the coast to coast air derby, wishing D. Roy Bradford and Pilot Raymond Merritt good luck and to show them that the city and residents are interested in their welfare and place in the race. These telegrams will be sent to the Chambers of Commerce of Columbus, O.; Kansas City, Kan.; Fort Worth and El Paso, Texas; Yuma, Ariz., and to the final stop at Los Angeles by organizations of New Castle.

These telegrams will be sent by the city of New Castle, Chamber of Commerce, Y. M. C. A. and the Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis clubs. Each afternoon previous to the derbyists' stop in one of these cities, the telegrams will be sent in care of the Chambers of Commerce to the respective cities along the route of the flight.

According to James A. Cole, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, from which office the announcement of the telegrams came, the local clubs and organizations are anxious to show the fliers that they are back of them and are wishing them the best possible. With these telegrams, they may be given moral support which will goad them onward.

It is the hope of the organizations that residents of the city will also send congratulatory telegrams to the New Castle fliers. Few cities of New Castle's size have planes represented in the great air derby and opinions are that the city should boost in every way possible.

BUSINESS COLLEGE

We are now well organized with a very nice class of students. Our regular classes will begin Monday. In other words there will be new classes in every department of our school, in both the day school and the night school. A great many have declared their intentions of being with us for the new classes Monday and we are inviting others to join us. Our night school is in session Monday and Thursday evenings; day school five days each week.

NEW TEACHERS ADDED TO FACULTY AT UNION HIGH

Regular Four Year High School Course Now Provided In Township

Workmen Busy On Annex As School Sessions Are Being Held

Another progressive township school in Lawrence county, whose doors opened for another nine months' period of school on Tuesday, Sept. 4, is the Union High school, situated in Scotland lane, Union township.

Owing to the fact that a regular four year high school course was introduced at the building last year—a course which offers a regular high school education and one which entitles the graduates from it to a certified diploma as in other institutions of this kind—the enrollment of the high school classes has been increased almost 50 students over last year's number. Several new teachers have been added to the teaching force in the high school grades in order to help instruct the larger number.

Teachers Added

Those who have been added to the force for this purpose are Claude Diehl, Miss Mary Eddy, Miss Mildred Eppinger, Miss Lucille McConaghy, Miss Agnes Bean and Miss Edith Sankey.

The enrollment of the lower grades has likewise been raised by the influx of new students throughout the township. Almost 875 students are accounted for in the entire township, while about 325 of this number attend the high school at Union. Additional instructors have also been procured for the lower grades.

Classes of the third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades are held at the Union high building besides the junior and senior high school classes.

Building Annex

Conditions at the school building are, and will be for some time, in a crowded state. A new annex is being added to the present building, one which will when completed provide six more class rooms, a well-equipped gymnasium and an auditorium with a seating capacity of almost 700 persons.

Classes within 10 feet of pounding hammers and grinding saws go right ahead in their work, not stopping to listen to the uproar caused by the construction work.

School officials held the belief that the new section of the school will be ready for occupancy by the first of January, but more probably at the beginning of the second semester. The new part will replace the portable which is in use now and which has been pressed into accommodating almost 70 pupils during the crowded period. Six spacious rooms for classes will be accommodated. A new office with greater facilities, to substitute the room now used for this purpose, will also be provided.

The gymnasium will include shower baths, lockers, toilets and all necessary essentials in a room of this kind. It will be one of the most complete in this section. Although the auditorium plans call for an arrangement of 650 persons, it is known that over 700 folks will be able to find accommodation within the four walls of the assembly room when it is completed. An up-to-date medical room will also be instituted in the new part.

Roy F. Conway, principal of the school, declares that although much confusion reigns this week, it will be but a matter of a few days until two more of the new rooms will be placed into service, helping somewhat to eliminate the crowded conditions.

Ministers To Meet Monday For First Meeting Of Fall

The first meeting of the fall of the New Castle Ministerial Association will be held Monday morning, September 10 in the Y. M. C. A.

Dr. J. A. McCuaig, representative of the World's Purity Federation will be the speaker of the morning.

Dr. McCuaig will be remembered by a number of people in New Castle as he was here about eight years ago.

Flying Field Being Improved

Work In Progress On McMillen Field Making It First Class Airport

CAPTAIN SMITH ENGINEERS WORK

McMillen Field on the Harlansburg road, is fast being put into condition as a first class flying field.

Under the supervision of Captain Ronald Smith, who came here some time ago with Robert C. Love, well known local banker, to assist the latter in the use and care of his new airplane, the field is now being fitted up so that it will not only meet the government requirements, but afford accommodations of the highest class for aviators.

The landing field, which is ninety acres in extent, has been completely cleared of all trees, obstructions, etc., and is now being rolled by the city roller. The result is that the field now has a surface as hard as is possible to get in the natural ground.

Another feature that is now under way at the field is the huge one hundred foot circle being constructed in the center of the best part of the landing field. It is a hundred feet in diameter and there is a runway or edge, several feet in width around the entire circumference of the circle, which is being filled with limestone and other materials of a white color effect, which will make the circle visible for a considerable distance in the air.

The runways of the field bisect the circle. This is one of the requirements of the government for a first class field and is for the purpose of affording the aviator, a better opportunity of making out the landing place and also doing so with as little trouble as possible.

As the field now stands, according to Captain Smith, it is one of the very best in this section of the country.

Church Delegates Vote Favorably On Merger Of Schools

Albright-Schuylkill College Merger Is Almost Assured; To Locate At Reading

(International News Service)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Sept. 7.—The Pittsburgh Conference of the Evangelical church in session here voted favorably for the merger of Albright College at Meyerstown and Schuylkill College, located at Reading. Under the proposed merger the college will be located at Reading and will be known as Albright College.

Announcement was made at the conference that Dr. F. F. Hetrick has been retained as presiding elder in the Johnstown district. Rev. G. A. Collin will continue as presiding elder of the Franklin district and Rev. R. C. Miller of the Pittsburgh district.

The annual report which was submitted at the conference showed that more than 1,50 members had been added during the year and that money collected from all sources totalled $452,000.

Lowman Warn Dry Agents To Shun Politics

Threatens Dismissal To Executives Or Agents Mixing In Presidential Campaign

ALL BRANCHES GIVEN WARNINGS

Budget For Prohibition Bureau For Fiscal Year Of 1920 Will Be Twelve Million

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Prohibition executives and agents were warned today by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Seymour Lowman to keep out of politics during the Presidential campaign.

Lowman dispatched telegraphic instructions to all administrators calling their attention to the fact that the dry bureau is under civil service regulations, which prohibits political activity.

The 1928 campaign marks the first pre-election fight in which federal prohibition officials and agents have not taken an active part in politics. In former campaigns the dry agents owed their appointment to politics and in many cases enforcement operations were virtually suspended during the election battles.

Lowman's warning was supplemented by the civil service commission, which also notified prohibition employes that they must devote their attention to enforcement and that while they may vote, their political activities must be confined to just that.

Similar instructions were sent to the coast guard and customs service by the Treasury.

Threatens Dismissal

Any violation of these instructions will result in dismissal or disciplinary action, Lowman said.

Specific treasury regulations provide that "an officer shall not use his official authority to influence or coerce the political act of any person or body."

Prohibition executives likewise were notified by Lowman that enforcement must be entirely impartial as relating to political affiliations of suspected violators. Under no circumstances will the treasury sanction the use of prohibition enforcement agencies to coerce political action, it was stated.

Enforcement activities will continue without consideration of the general election, according to Lowman. He said that neither would there be special enforcement drives prior to the election, nor would operations of the dry service be curtailed.

Lowman announced the budget for the prohibition bureau for the 1930 fiscal year would be approximately $12,000,000. The same as this year.

No extension of the dry forces was deemed necessary, Lowman holding that the bureau can make as many cases with the present personnel as the federal courts can handle.

Body Of Youth Found; Murdered; Arrest Suspect

Body Of Six-Year-Old Boy Found In Rear Of Coney Island Home, Believed Slain

LONGSHOREMAN IS UNDER SUSPICION

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Luigi Panorella, 20, a longshoreman, is under arrest on a charge of homicide and four others were being held as material witnesses today in connection with the death of six-year-old Salvatore Santomarco, whose body was found in a burlap sack upon a pile of stones in the rear of a Coney Island home late yesterday evening.

Police were led to the scene by Panorella. They found the body of the boy, strangled by manila rope wound tightly about his neck and thrust into the burlap bag.

Young Santomarco was reported missing by his father Wednesday night. Thomas Santomarco, 8, Salvatore's brother, told his father that he had last seen his brother at the home of Panorella, where the two boys had gone Wednesday evening. He related that Panorella had sent him out to buy candy and cigars and that, when he returned, his brother was gone. He said that Panorella denied knowing where the boy had gone.

When she heard of the disappearance of Salvatore, Fannie Panorella, 15, sister of the murdered boy and wife of Panorella, became alarmed, according to police, and told her father that she feared her husband would wreak vengeance on the boy because she refused to return to Panorella after deserting him four months ago. Her father notified Coney Island police who later arrested the longshoreman.

The four others were held after Panorella, according to police, told them that the four were implicated in the boy's murder.

FORMER SEATTLE MAYOR BUILDS CITY OF HIS DREAMS

When Ole Hanson was mayor of Seattle, Wash., he used to dream of creating a model city. When his term of office ended he began work on his city which today is named San Clemente, Cal., and has a population of 1,200 persons, a newspaper, bank, postoffice, school, and all the improvements enjoyed by much larger towns. All houses must conform to the Spanish style with red tile roofs and white stucco walls. San Clemente, above, is half way between Los Angeles and San Diego. Hanson is at right.

Important Arrests Made By Monaghan In Philadelphia

Two Prominent Men Are Under Arrest In Philadelphia Vice Ring Probe

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7.—The most important arrests since the start of the probe into underworld conditions here were disclosed today by District Attorney John Monaghan while awaiting the grand jury's report on Philadelphia's alleged gangsters.

Mystery veils the arrests, but it was learned two well-dressed men were brought to City Hall and lodged in police cells after questioning in the prosecutor's office. Names of the prisoners could not be learned.

The probe has been extended to Canada, said Monaghan, and other important arrests may be made soon. A mystery witness was ushered into the grand jury room today and officials refused to reveal why the man had been called. Current rumors around City Hall had it that Max "Boo Boo" Hoff, well-known prize-fight manager, would be arrested after the grand jury files its report this afternoon.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

The Story Of Our War With Spain
The Battle Of Las Guasimas—June 24, 1898

ON THE NIGHT OF JUNE 23, 1898, CUBAN SCOUTS BROUGHT WORDS TO THE AMERICAN FORCES NEAR SIBONEY THAT THE RETREATING SPANIARDS HAD HALTED, AND HAD TAKEN UP A STRONG POSITION AT LAS GUASIMAS IN THE WOODED HILLS COMMANDING THE ROAD THAT LED TO SANTIAGO.

THE NEXT MORNING A BATTALION OF 450 "ROUGH RIDERS" LED BY COL. LEONARD WOOD, SUPPORTED BY TWO TROOPS OF THE 1ST REGULAR CAVALRY, SET OUT FOR LAS GUASIMAS OVER A MOUNTAIN TRAIL. AT THE SAME TIME, TWO TROOPS OF THE 10TH (COLORED) CAVALRY ADVANCED BY WAY OF THE VALLEY ROAD.

THE WHOLE FORCE (WITH THE EXCEPTION OF A FEW OFFICERS) WAS DISMOUNTED, THE TROOPERS CARRIED HEAVY PACKS AND SUFFERED GREATLY FROM THE HEAT. CLIMBING A RIDGE NEAR LAS GUASIMAS, THE HEAD OF THE COLUMN WAS FIRED UPON BY SPANIARDS CONCEALED IN THE JUNGLE. CAPT. ALLYN K. CAPRON WAS FATALLY WOUNDED AT THE FIRST VOLLEY.

SEVERAL OTHER VOLUNTEERS FELL, SERGEANT HAMILTON FISH, SCION OF A PROMINENT NEW YORK FAMILY BEING THE SECOND TO RECEIVE A MORTAL WOUND. THE "ROUGH RIDERS" FORMED A SKIRMISH LINE AND WENT UP THE HILL AT THE DOUBLE-QUICK, SHOOTING AS THEY RAN.

Expect Large Crowd At Monday's Fights

Davies And Carpentero, Bitter Rivals, Training For Important Bout; Howard Mayberry, Ex-Local Boy To Box Against Lovell; Compton Battles Belford And Two Other Battles Will Satisfy Fandom's Hunger For Punch.

By ED. FRITZ

ONLY three days remain until Willie Davies of Charleroi and Luis Carpentero, the Filipino, of Toledo, O., clash in the ten round main bout at the Jolly bowl and according to the interest displayed in the coming battle there'll be another capacity audience when the two flyweights shake hands preparatory to a gruelling battle.

Of all the battlers who have appeared at the bowl none is rated as high in fistic channels as Davies and the Filipino and as they are equally mated fandom can anticipate a thrilling go.

Davies has appeared here twice and fans know that he is one of the best fighters they have ever witnessed at the bowl. There is not a shadow of a doubt as to Carpentero's ability.

Mayberry Coming Home

The boys accompanied by their managers will arrive here Sunday but will not do any hard training. Instead they will rest for the Monday night struggle.

Howard Mayberry, a New Castle boy who has reached prominence in the squared arena will show himself against Al Lovell, who formerly fought under the name of Tip Williams of Toledo.

Mayberry has been training with Davies and Lovell has been boxing daily with Carpentero and this bout should be as fast as the feature battle of the bowl.

Compton To Battle

George Compton who stopped Sammy Busang and Bobby Belford who knocked out Young Corsey will figure in a six round go and many gloves will fly.

Belford formerly resided in the Beaver Valley and hopes to stow Compton away. However, Compton is a fast junior lightweight and like Belford totes a good punch.

Tommy O'Leary who registered a knockout at the bowl recently will fight Johnny Haggerty of Pittsburgh who defeated Harry Lebo in a four round bout.

McManus Gets Chance

Tony Canzoni, Cleveland's best flyweight and Terry McManus, credited with being the fastest in Pittsburgh, will climb into the ring in a four round bout.

Promoter Bill Jolly today stated that he anticipates the biggest crowd of the season and will have extra ushers and police to handle the crowd.

Rocco In Training.

Emmett Rocco, the Ellwood City boy has plunged into heavy training for his bout here with Al Friedman, formerly of Boston now of Philadelphia. Whether Emmett's right hand is in condition will be seen when he "lets it go" a week from tonight. Friedman is a boxer and young.

Eddie Weygant's attempt to comeback will be watched by fans as he hopes to gather some of the purses which are now dangling in front of pugilists. The old statement "they never come back" is not worrying Weygant. He is matched to box Jimmie Zill of Youngstown.

Firpo Coming Back.

Henry Firpo the boy who defeated Red Jadabird, Joe O'Malley and scored a decision and knockout in two fights with George Perotta may be brought to the Jolly Bowl on September 17. Firpo's opponent has not been selected but George Fifield, Canadian welterweight champion, has challenged Firpo.

New Marathon Swim Planned At Toronto, To Be 5-Mile Event

Fourteen Swimmers Who Made Best Showing In 15-Mile Swim Will Divide $35,000

(International News Service)

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 7.—Preparations were under way here today for the staging of a $5,000 consolation swim tomorrow as a result of the unsatisfactory ending of the 15-mile marathon Wednesday.

This decision was reached late yesterday by the aquatic sports committee of the Canadian National exhibition. The committee also decided that the 14 swimmers who made the best showing in the marathon would share in a split of the $35,000 offered as prizes in the race. None of the contestants finished. The 14 swimmers will receive $2,500.

The distance for the consolation race will probably be five miles. Those who shared in the $35,000 awards of the marathon will be permitted to compete again Saturday, but the entry will probably be limited to 60 or 70 and the committee will accept only those who actually completed a definite part of the marathon.

Hartman Faces Serious Task At Grove City

GROVE CITY, Pa., Sept. 7.—Fifty candidates answered the call of Joe Hartman head coach at the local high school to try for positions on the football team of Grove City High school. The first meeting of the squad was held yesterday. Coach Hartman lectured the boys on the rules and regulations governing the play this year. Field work and conditioning of the players commenced today.

Only four veterans of last year's team are on the squad this year. Seven were lost by graduation. This makes a serious handicap for Hartman and his aides, Art McBride and Hubert Jack, to overcome in an attempt to repeat their capture of the county championship.

The squad numbers many husky boys this year and will average 150 pounds per man. Harold Catlin, senior is captain.

The schedule opens September 22 with Ellwood City and the first two games are two of the hardest on the whole program acording to Coach Hartman.

The schedule is as follows: September 22, Ellwood City; September 29, New Castle; October 6, open; October 13, New Brighton; October 19, Sharpsville; October 27, West Middlesex; November 3, Farrell; November 10, open; November 17, open; November 29, Sharon.

Colored Stars To Have Football Team

Colored Stars football team will hold their first practice, Saturday on Sampson street grounds. Jordan Fitzhugh, Robinson, H. Gray, B. Gray, Hambric, Payne, Marks, W. Farrow, Morris, Owens, Goodman, Ellis, Jackson and Lawson are asked to report. Tom Farrow will coach the team. Games can be booked by calling 2189-R.

Disappointed Athletes

By QUIN HALL.

NOW that the Olympic games are all over it might be just as well to refer again to some of our outstanding stars who failed to make the trip

Once more the United States won the classic and the Stars and Stripes floated triumphantly over the field—if not over the track.

Our fellows ran into some mighty keen competition in the events so recently staged in Amsterdam. In fact, in the track events the competition was far too keen for your Uncle Samuel, and while we had banked on a good many firsts in these contests we only cashed in on one bet, Barbuti being the lone eagle to cop in a track event, not counting the relays.

And while it's natural to offer alibis, it's sporting to admit that the United States ran into a bumblebees' nest—and let it go at that. Maybe it would have been better if our athletes had gone to Amsterdam to do their conditioning instead of doing so much preliminary contesting over here. Maybe we were overconfident. Maybe the boys ate too much ice cream Maybe—but what of it? The games are over, and while the United States won, they certainly didn't make any wow of a showing on the tracks.

The Jinx seemed to be plucking at Uncle Sam's coat tails even before the trip started and a second Olympic team could easily have been mustered from the "left behinds." Imagine an Olympic team without Matt McGrath, Jim McEcheron and Pat McDonald on the list in the weight events! All veterans, but swamped by an uprising of youthful strength.

The casualty rate among the hurdlers was especially high. Chuck Werner of the Illinois A. S., with sectional tryouts run in brilliant time, never could get started in Cambridge. Weems Baskin, N. Y. A. C. star, was shut out and Ross Nichols, great hurdler from Stanford, had the misfortune to stumble on the last hurdle in the final tryout. Dan Kinsey, the Olympic 110-metre champion, also failed to make the grade, and the same fate awaited Dick Pomeroy.

Among the sprinters Hussey and Simpson ranked with the best prior to the final tryouts, but Hussey failed to make the grade and Simpson, the Ohio State star, after winning his heat in world record time, sprained his ankle, and had to be left behind when the boat pulled away from the pier.

Another disappointed athlete was Fait Elkins, our greatest decathloner, who sustained a leg injury on the eve of the final tryouts and thereby was prevented from competing in the Olympics.

Bill Cox, intercollegiate cross country champion and a member of the last Olympic team, was beaten in this attempt at the mile and George Lermond, who was looked upon as a sure entry abroad, failed both in the 5,000 and 10,000 metres. Sam Martin, who on two occasions has pushed Lloyd Hahn to new records, was shut out in his heat in the 800-metre run. He wanted to make the trip so badly that he went out afterward for the 10,000 metre run, and while he did not succeed in placing for a position in the event, he at least finished the distance, which feat, in itself, is considered quite an accomplishment for a half-miler.

Others, who on past performances stood out as almost sure choices in the final try-outs, were doomed to disappointment and, as a result, enough material was left behind when the boat pulled out for Amsterdam to make up a second team which might have fared almost as well as the one which represented the United States in the Olmpics.

FIGHTING FOR FLAG

By NORMAN E. BROWN.
Sports Writer for Centrall Press and New Castle News.

And now, how about the present scramble for the big league flags?

One thing is certain. Barring an unheard of collapse on the part of one or more of the leading contenders in both leagues the race ought to wind up in the hottest finishes in many a year.

In the American league the stern chase of the Athletics—aided at times by spurts of the other clubs, to cut down the Yankees has turned what early appeared to be a runaway race into a heart-stopping melee.

In the National league as far as most folks are concerned the spectacular fight of the St. Louis Cardinals to regain the championship won in 1926 and lost last year has been the sensational feature of that league race.

And yet generally speaking the clubs of both leagues have run true to the form expected of them.

To inject a personal element into the discussion for a moment.

After studying the teams and their prospects while they were training in the south last spring I felt—and expressed the belief—that the National league clubs would finish in this order:

St. Louis.
Pittsburgh.
Chicago.
New York.
Cincinnati.
Boston.
Brooklyn.
Philadelphia.

At the writing, four of the teams occupy exactly the positions in the race assigned them—the Cardinals on top, the Cubs third, the Reds fifth and the Phillies eighth. The Giants outgaming and outplaying the Pirates, have changed places with them—McGraw's team holding second place and the Pirates fourth (although the results of one or two days' play can change some of these positions.) The Braves and Dodgers have simply changed places.

In the American league this was the lineup predicted:

New York.
Chicago.
Philadelphia.
Washington.
Detroit.
Cleveland.
Boston.
St. Louis.

And those teams have been ranking lately as follows: Yankees, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Washington, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland and Boston. The collapse of the White Sox and the sensational work of the St. Louis Browns upset the dope in the main. Despite the upset three of the four teams expected to finish in first division are in that upper section with the Yanks on top as prophesied and the Senators holding fourth. The Detroit, Cleveland and Boston clubs rank in order predicted though each one a step lower.

In other words seven of the eight clubs doped to hold first division berths in the two leagues have run true to form and four of the eight the exact positions selected for them.

It will take a terrific upset on the part of one or two teams to change these positions greatly in the next few weeks.

Athletics Have Chance To Gain

Play Double Bill At Boston Today While Yanks Are Tackling Washington

By BERNARD MULLADY.
International News Service Special Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Jupiter Pluvius played the major role in the pennant chases, throttling the Yankees and Athletics who were fighting for the lead in the American league. Both the Yankees, who were to face the Senators and the Athletics, scheduled to meet the Red Sox in a double header, were frustrated by rain and the Yanks still hold a two game lead over the Mackmen. Today the Yanks face the senators in a doubleheader and the Athletics play two with Boston.

In the National league the top notch Cardinals and the Pirates were the only teams playing and the Cards preserved their margin over the Pittsburghers, winning in the ninth inning when Harper contributed a home run with one team mate on base. Mitchell, formerly of the Phillies, was credited with the St. Louis victory holding the sluggish Pirates to seven hits to win 4 to 3. Grimes, who worked for the Pirates had to contend with three errors by his fellows.

The game sent the Cardinals further into the lead by a four and a half game margin ahead of the Giants who are idle again today while the Cards meet the Pirates in the second game of a four-game series.

In the only other major league game of the day the White Sox defeated the Indians 2 to 1. Thomas allowed only four hits.

Ben Franklin Squad At Work

Fifty Lads Out For Big East Side Junior High Team

FIVE VETERANS FROM LAST YEAR

Fifty energetic youngsters, candidates for the 1928 football squad at Ben Franklin junior high school, greeted Coach Leroi Norton on Thursday afternoon. With five veterans back from last year's eleven, Norton faces the task of developing six pigskin catches, as the veterans have their positions practically cinched.

Norton's work is not going to be hard especially due to the fact that five boys on the 1927 team are back in school and they have the fundamentals as well as the experience that build a winning combination. These boys are expected to form the nucleus of this year's football team.

The veterans are Fred Fabian, Harry Crisci, "Baldy" Watson, Andy Maki and "Red" Bender.

Stribling Winner Over Squires In New York Fight

Referee Stops Fight In Second Round To Save Australian From Punishment

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Billy Stribling, of Georgia, has advanced another step in heavyweight ranks today as a result of his victory over Johnny Squires of South Africa in the second round of their bout at Madison Square Garden last night.

Lou Magnolia, the referee, stepped in during the second round and stopped the match to save Squires from a severe drubbing. The South African was outclassed from the start and failed to get in a blow. Referee Magnolia stopped the bout at the end of 44 seconds of the rounds.

Stribling weighed in at 181½ and Squires at 184.

Three Days Racing At New Castle Fair

Races To Start Wednesday, September 26 And End September 28; Three Events First Day Four On Two Other Days; Purses Total $5,000; "We've Got Good Horses This Year" Hartwell Says.

Harness horses from near and far will be seen in action in the speed program to be featured at this year's New Castle Fair, New Castle, Penn., September 25 to 28.

J. W. Hartwell, superintendent of speed, who is looking after the entries and general details connected with the program, predicts the best racing years.

Not only will the leading local horsemen be seen in action, but many of the outstanding experts who will be racing at nearby fairs, just previous to the New Castle Fair, are coming here with their stables, thus assuring record fields in every event on the card.

Inducement For Owners

The liberal purses set aside by the management totaling $5,000.00 is proving to be a big inducement in bringing the outside horses here.

"We are going to give the lovers of horse racing the best entertainment at this year's fair that they have ever had," said Mr. Hartwell. "We've got the horses this year, and we are going to have the most successful meet in our history."

Program Arranged

The following races have been carded for the fair:

Wednesday, September 26

2:20 Pace (Closed)—Purse $600.00.
2:17 Trot Open—Purse $400.00.
2:30 Trot Open—Purse $400.00.

Thursday, September 27

Three Games In Church League

Three fast games are billed in the New Castle Church League for tonight. The games are postponed affairs from earlier in the year. The battles will start at 6 o'clock Eastern Standard Time.

The Central Christians will meet the Central Presbyterians at Lehigh with Black as the umpire. The First Christians will play the First M. E. at Scotland Lane with Jones handling the indicator. The First Baptists meet the Grace & Cong. at Mahoningtown with Diffley the official.

Smith's Football Team Reorganized For 1928 Season

Junior Lightweight Champs Of 1927 Back In Field Again With Fast Outfit

Smith's football team, junior lightweight champions of 1927, will be back in the field again this year with another fast outfit, it was announced today. It is planned to also support a lightweight team.

The initial practice of the year has been called for the Pennsylvania Engineering Works field at 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon. The following players and any desiring tryouts are asked to be present at the session: Mike Di Thomas, Perch Ross, Mike DiMuccio, Jack Di Thomas, Tony Mastern, Tony Sheldone, Jake Ross, "Lulu" Peret, Andy Bartlett, Vitus Bongivengo, Frank Bongivengo, Albert Colletta, "See" Deli, James Bartlett, Joe Zone, Dewey Casimere, Mike Panella, Henry Faella, Henry Clay, James Marshall, Fred Farone, Jake Ciambiotti, Andy Farrell, Tex Richards and Dan Cooper.

Games with the Smiths can be arranged by calling Jimmy DiMuccio.

Hope To Start Tennis Matches At Germantown

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7.—Weather permitting, the international lawn tennis matches between France and the United States will be played at the Germantown Cricket club today and tomorrow.

The exhibition of Miss Helen Wills, woman champion of the world, against a male opponent postponed yesterday along with three international contests, will be played today. Miss Wills will oppose Wilmer Allison.

The rearrangement of the three days' schedule was made to include all the matches in two days. It was agreed, however, that all the matches would be best two out of three with the exception of the feature doubles tomorrow. In this contest, which will be best three out of five sets, Borotra and Jacques Brugnon will oppose George Lott and John Hennessey, who last week won the American championship. The starting time on each day will be 2 p. m.

"From now on—Chesterfield!"

*A PLAIN, unvarnished statement of fact: "Mild enough for anybody and yet they satisfy".

If you will light a Chesterfield and smoke it critically you will find no hint of harshness, but a certain mildness, with a rich, wholesome flavor.

Chesterfields satisfy without being harsh. They're mild without being insipid or tasteless.

Rain Fails To Halt Gridders, Have Scrimmage

Coach Bridenbaugh Sends New Castle High Gridders Through Short Scrimmage Session

BACKFIELD VERY UNCERTAIN PROBLEM

New Castle High school football men practiced in the mud at Ben Franklin High field in their daily workout on Thursday afternoon. The squad was put through a short scrimmage session by Coach Philip H. Bridenbaugh. Rain failed to halt the activities of the young candidates for the 1928 team.

The scrimmage session yesterday served two purposes, first it gave Coach Bridenbaugh a chance to get a line on his material, and then it served to get the boys acquainted with a slippery ball.

As each day passes it is more and more noticeable that Bridenbaugh is paying the most attention to the backfield problem. The line is taking care of itself this season with any number of experienced men, but the backfield with the loss of Reider, Turk, Richards and Smith, is causing the main worry. The ball toting department is not going to have very many veterans. Art Sillman and Tommy Harper are the only players out for the backfield dubbed as regulars. Fernati and Shaffer have had football experience and may develop. Nick DiCarbo is being groomed for a halfback post, and Alexander and Herb Smith are showing up well.

Sillman Improves.

Sillman is calling signals and is doing a good job, in the scrimmage session yesterday the so-called regulars ran rough shod over the reserves, with Sillman exercising good judgment in the caller-out department. Shaffer and DiCarbo ripped off several good gains.

There is one fight on the line, that of the guard post left vacant by DiCarbo. At this time Dinsmore and Howley seem to have the call, with Beres in the thick of the fight.

In another week Coach Bridenbaugh will have hit upon a temporary first team and his entire attention will be directed toward grooming for the opening game of the year on Saturday, September 22, when Bellevue High will show at Franklin Field. The first several games will give Bridenbaugh a good line on what to expect in the way of football and after that the task of conditioning for Greensburg and Washington will be undertaken.

These Three Elizabeth Lads Made Good At Westminster

LAUDER-HALFBACK

CAPTAIN FURNO-TACKLE

DOMBROWSKI-TACKLE

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 7.—Three former Elizabeth high school football players have made good at Westminster and are members of the 1928 squad now in training camp. They are Captain Joseph Furno, tackle; ex-captain James Lauder, halfback; and Joseph Dombrowski, tackle.

Lauder, who captained last year's team, is a senior and has won three varsity letters in the fall sport. Furno, this year's leader, is also a senior and has won two letters in football, injuries keeping him out of the game during his first year. Dombrowski, a junior, has already won two letters.

In addition to these three former high school teammates, James Smalley, a freshman candidate for the backfield, is also in camp.

Union High Squad Starts Grid Training

The first practice of the season for the new recruits and veterans of the Union High school football squad on Wednesday evening found seven of last year's players in uniform once more.

Schiek, Augustine and Rech, all first string men last season, and Morrison, Chill, Stockman and McConahy, subs in the high school's football activities of last year, were in attendance. Thompson, who played on the regular aggregation two years ago, was out again in contemplation of another season of playing.

L. H. Burnham, Union's coach of several years, is in shape for another season. He believes, it is said, that the high school will make a fair showing this year in their games with teams played in former years.

Union's first game will take place on Friday, Sept. 28 at the school grounds at which time the present team is carded to go against the alumni aggregation.

Harper's Homer Defeats Pirates

Hits Home Run With One Runner On Base In Tenth Inning

ST. LOUIS Sept. 7—The Cardinals yesterday defeated the Pirates 4 to 3 in a ten inning game and George Harper, formerly a Giant turned the trick as he hit a home run into right field stand with one man on base. It was another loss for Grimes who apparently had the game in tow when Harper pulled the "Frank Merriwell." The box score.

Miller Huggins remarked recently that the Yankees would win or lose the pennant in the coming series with the Athletics. The teams have games scheduled on September 9th, 11th, and 12th, with a double header on the 9th. So far New York has won thirteen of the eighteen games played between the two teams, so that the best that the A's can get is nine out of twenty-two. But there is no doubt about the fact that the Philadelphians have been playing much better ball than New York, and since July 1st have gained forty-six victories out of fifty-eight games played to date, cutting the Yankees' lead of more than twelve games down to two and a half, as this is written.

What is Miller Huggins, the mite manager, going to do about it? And how about Connie Mack, 65-year-old veteran, who hasn't won a pennant for lo these fourteen years? Will this Hannibal of baseball lead his elephant safely past the warriors of "Murderers' Row," and into the city of Rome, itself where is held that great gladiatorial combat called the World Series? It is written that Hannibal beat the Romans, but did not take the city, and that later Carthage, his home, was destroyed by his hated enemies.

Connie Mack's team of brilliant youngsters, with veterans like Cobb, Collins, and Speaker on the bench, has been playing close to .600 ball the last two months, while the Yanks have been going at a .570 gait. Fine pitching and no injuries have brought Mack and his prize pachyderm to the threshold of his heart's desire. Will he be able to check his elephant's trunk in the Promised Land at last?

Pete Poole, one of the rubbers of the United States Olympic team, was familiar with most of the joints in Amsterdam, while Pete Desjardines knew all the dives.

Twilight Teams To Play Third Game Saturday

Rain Causes Postponement Of Third Game Scheduled For Thursday Night

PLAY TOMORROW AT 5 O'CLOCK, E. S. T.

Jupitor Pluvius was just a little to generous with his rainfall yesterday, and the third game of the championship series in the Twilight League between Wampum and Ryantown was called off. The game has been rescheduled for Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock, E. S. T. at the Pennsy grounds.

Manager Elmer Robinson of the Ryantown team plans to use either Houk or Wilcox on the hill, with Costello behind the plate. Manager Robertson of Wampum will choose from Boone and Boyle as his starting pitcher, with Latiano behind the plate.

Commissioner Walther has assigned Brooks, Bryson and Zidow to handle the game, in an official capacity.

Both teams are on edge and eager for the third tilt of the Little World's series. If Ryantown captures the game Saturday the series will end, but on the other hand the battles will be continued if Manager Robertson and his Wampumites emerge with a victory. The third game is expected to be a hard fought affair.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 7—Sky-rocketing tendencies of high-priced industrial and specialty stocks were again on exhibition in the early trading today. Wall Street worked itself up into a spirit of uncontrolled speculative enthusiasm when brokers loan expansion was reported at the paltry sum of $54,000,000 instead of the $150,000,000 more or less, than had been expected. The bulls plunged in wildly and the bears received another painful drubbing.

Montgomery Ward's new 20-point flight to 242 was the feature of this period. Sears Roebuck, the Chicago companion stock to Montgomery Ward, rose in heavy trading to 156 for a new 8-point gain and Curtiss Aero rushed up to above 150. The move in United States Steel, sponsored by the most powerful financial interests, carried that stock to above 157, a new high record for the year and only 3½ points below the highest price in the history of the corporation.

The stock tape ran 19 minutes behind the market in the first hour, during which time the motor stocks and industrials received one of the most aggressive churnings of the year. The professionals were active on the buying side of the market, while profit-taking was reported principally from the outside trading points. Realizing sales were easily absorbed in the first hour, and the market in many departments was ready to proceed with the advance. Some buying of the independent oils was in evidence, but not on the scale noted in the last few days.

The call loan rate declined to 7½ per cent. For week-end loans.

Opposes Assessment For Street Widening

C. C. Robingson, today appeared before council in formal session at city hall today and objected to the assessment on property of the Moore heirs, the result of widening and paving of North Mercer street.

According to the ordinance Mr. Robingson should have voiced his protest within five days after the assessment was made. He stated he had been informed by a city hall attache he had 30 days to voice the protest. The protest was put on the city records but received no other action.

Wife Desertion And Non-Support Cases Being Heard

Desertion and non-support cases occupied the attention of Judges Hildebrand and Chambers at court this morning.

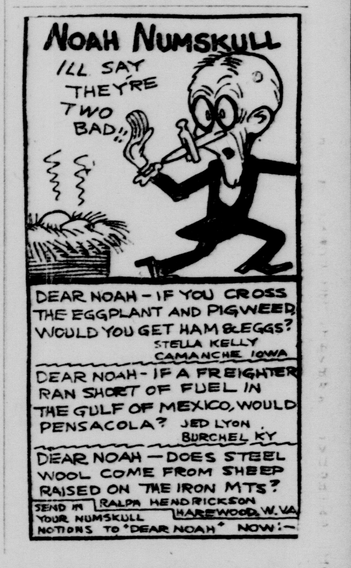

As the grand jury occupied court room No. 2, Judge Chambers held court in one of the library rooms. There was very much sameness about all of the cases, wives claiming neglect and failure on the part of husbands to provide.

Among the cases scheduled this morning were those against Tony Morella, George McClain, Charles H. S. Douglass, Harry Pander, George S. Shook, Pery Lastano and Charles Kahrer. There are a number of other cases to be taken up this afternoon.

To Apportion Cost Of Street Work

Under an order of court this morning viewers will apportion the cost of the Greenwood avenue, Harbor and Vine street sewers and the grading of Vogan street. The Greenwood avenue sewer, 200 feet long, cost $896.18. The Harbor street sewer, 300 feet long, cost $874, and the Vine street sewer, 380 feet long, cost $1,164.45. The Vogan avenue grading cost $965.85.

Seek Conference Ridding Germany Of Allied Troops

Germany Requests That Allied Forces Be Made To Evacuate Rhineland

(International News Service)

GENEVA, Sept. 7.—Progress towards the calling of an international conference of the interested powers to consider Germany's request for immediate evacuation of the Rhineland by the French, English and Belgian occupational troops was indicated today. Britain, France, Italy, Belgium and Germany are interested powers.

The Rhineland, and the reparations issues are only two big problems that remain from the war so far as Germany and the allies are concerned. The other problem—war debts—involved chiefly the United States, the principal creditor power.

Heretofore the Rhineland question has been in the hands of the inter-allied council of ambassadors of which M. Briand of France is president. Consequently it probably would be necessary for the ambassadorial council to ratify any plan which may be evolved by the proposed conference in Geneva.

Thirty Members Of Family Will Vote For Herbert Hoover

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.— Mrs. Jessie S. Goode, a 80-year-old club woman of Melbourne, Fla., today notified the Republican national committee that thirty members of her family will vote for Herbert Hoover for president.

She revealed that 29 of her children, grand-children, nephews, nieces and other relatives were Republicans. The lone Democrat, she added, has promised to vote for Hoover to make it unanimous.

Wilder-Tunney Plan For Tour

(International News Service)

LONDON, Sept. 7.—Thornton Wilder, American novelist and close friend of Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion, left for Paris at noon today to join Tunney for a walking tour thru southern France. He said their plans were indefinite and would be made as they went along.

City To Encourage 'Tin City Rocket'

Councilmen and Mayor Gillespie today decided to send a telegram daily to D. Roy Bradford and Pilot Merritt of the Tin City Rocket which will represent New Castle in Class B in the Trans-Continental aerial event. The telegrams will be sent daily through James W. Cole, commissioner of the chamber of commerce.

Durant Offers New Prize To Students For Dry Law Plans

Durant Offers $5,000 To High School And Prep School Students

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—An additional $5,000 is being offered today—this prize for high or prep school students—by W. C. Durant for the best plan to enforce the Eighteenth amendment, more commonly known as the dry law. Durant, has already offered a $25,000 prize, open to everybody.

The new offer stipulates that the prize winning student will get $1,000 and the school he or she represents will get $4,000.

Student plans, if of sufficient merit, also will be eligible to compete for the $25,000.

Governor Smith To Display Brown Derby In Mid-West

(International News Service)

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 7.—The great open spaces of the west are going to get a good look at Governor Al Smith in his brown derby.

The governor displayed to reporters today two new hats, one a derby and one a soft hat, both brown.

"They're going on the train," he said, grinning. "I've got a couple more derbies. One may not last a week out there."

SWIMS CHANNEL BUT LOSES PRIZE

Miss Laddie Sharp, 18-year-old nursemaid of London, England, succeeded in her attempt to swim the English channel but failed to win the prize of $5,000 offered by a London newspaper to the first English girl to better Gertrude Ederle's record. Jabez Wolff, the nursemaid's trainer, is shown helping her from the water after the swim. She finished in 25 minutes longer than the American girl's time and so didn't qualify for the prize.

CUBAN BEAUTY IN EAST INDIES

When Gustavo Enrique Mustelier, consul general of Cuba, establishes in Batavia the new consulate for Cuba which links for first time the East and West Indies in a common bond, not the least interesting of those participating in the ceremonies will be his 17-year-old daughter, Miss Emma, often called "Cuba's prettiest girl." This photo was taken in Los Angeles, Cal., as she and her parents were on their way to the East Indies.

Plan To Examine Attorney Tyrrell In Insanity Test

Counsel For Attorney-Slayer Granted Right To Have Prisoner Tested

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 7.— Counsel for Attorney F. J. Tyrrell today was granted permission by criminal court to have him examined "for mental and physical condition" before the lawyer goes on trial Monday, Sept. 10, on a charge of murdering Philip Clark, steel worker, in the first Christian church at Munhall where Tyrrell was superintendent of the Sunday school.

This led to the belief that the defense of Tyrrell will be based on an insanity plea.

Tyrrell was the attorney for Clark's wife in her move to secure a divorce. On Sunday, May 13 last, in full view of the congregation, Tyrrell fatally shot Clark when the latter walked up the aisle. After being arrested, according to police, Tyrrell declared he feared Clark was walking up the aisle to attack him as the steel worker had threatened him.

Tyrrell is married and has several children, one of them a son, a student at West Virginia University.
